Salvage Craft Find Location Of French Sub

Little Hope for Raising Vessel From Deep Water

ITALIANS TO HELP

Submarine Reported Lying 245 Feet Below Surface

Paris (AP)—Minister of Marine Leygues promised the French people today that nothing, however sad, will be hidden from the public concerning the loss of the submarine Promethee yesterday.

The minister's statement was made after reports to the Havas News agency reached here saying the position of the submarine was located and that it was lying in about 245 feet of water.

"The truth will be told," M. Leygues said, "for the public has a right to know."

"One of our biggest and heaviest submarines has gone to the bottom. Unhappily there exists in France no apparatus sufficiently powerful to bring these recently launched submarines to the surface."

"To the glory of the French navy it should be said that France has had fewer submarine accidents than any other country possessing this type of craft."

"The question is: Were the watertight compartments of the Promethee closed in time? Perhaps the mechanism failed to work. In this event France must deplore the death of more than 60 men."

Cherbourg, France (AP)—Salvage vessels hovering above the spot where the submarine Promethee went down yesterday reported air bubbles on the surface this afternoon.

They also found the Promethee's telephone buoy, but there was no sound from the other end of the wire.

The submarine, with more than 60 men aboard, lay in 245 feet of water, seven miles north of Cape Jethou.

It is a bad spot, with treacherous currents and an uneven bottom. The prevailing impression ashore was that raising her would be an almost impossible task.

Nevertheless the first thing the authorities did this morning when the hull was located was to call for

English Rector Is Found Guilty Of Immorality

Convicted on Several Counts After Sensational Church Trial

London (AP)—The Rev. F. F. Davidson, grey-haired rector of Stiffkey, was found guilty today on several of the charges of improper conduct with young women which he faced at the recent sensational church trial here on an accusation of immorality.

F. K. North, chancellor of the diocese of Norwich, who presided at the trial, handed down the decision. The clergyman, with his daughter "Paddy" and his son, Nugent, were present in the court when the verdict was rendered. His wife was not there.

The sentence will be pronounced later by the bishop of Norwich and it was indicated the rector may appeal.

The rector had denied all the charges in his picturesque defense at the trial, declaring he came to London from his country parish to do uplift work among unfortunate girls, hundreds of whom he said he helped.

This statement of the rector's, the chancellor said in his decision, was a "tissue of absurdities" and the rector an absolutely discredited witness upon whom no reliance could be placed.

The charges of which the rector was found guilty included immoral conduct with Rose Ellis, a good-looking girl he picked up one night in a notorious Leicester square and made his secretary.

The chancellor said he did not believe Miss Ellis ever was the rector's secretary in any real sense and added there had been immoral conduct on many occasions.

Another charge against the rector was having molested three girls whose names were given by the chancellor.

The verdict was no sooner read than the rector left the courtroom on the run, pausing only long enough to say:

"I'm not the least surprised. I expected this from the first."

Before he left the courtroom he was surrounded by a group of men and women who shook his hand warmly and expressed their sorrow at the verdict. One girl rushed up and kissed him.

2 Fliers Safe In Russia but Plane Wrecked

Mattern and Griffin Make Forced Landing Near Polish Border

FLIGHT IS ABANDONED

Pair Escapes With Slight Bruises—Will Travel To Moscow by Train

Moscow (AP)—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, American round the world fliers, were forced down yesterday near Borisov, 50 miles from Minsk, Russia, reports to the Tass agency said today, when the controls of their plane ceased to work properly.

Neither of the fliers was seriously hurt, the reports reaching here said, but the plane was wrecked and they abandoned the flight. They escaped with slight bruises and were planning to come on to Moscow by train.

The report said they were forced down about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, eight hours after they left Berlin. In that time they had apparently covered more than half the 950 miles between Berlin and Moscow.

Borisov is considerably south of the most direct air line between the two cities, however, and the opinion here was that they were drawn out of their course by the improperly functioning controls.

Minsk is near the Polish-Russian border.

It was evident they would not continue the flight, for with the plane wrecked and the flight already more than 24 hours behind the record of Post and Gatty the prospect of beating the latter's time was completely wiped out.

The news that they had landed served to quell the grave fears for their safety which had arisen here. When the second 24 hours after their take-off from Berlin began last night and approached the 36-hour mark without word today, even those who kept in mind the slowness of communication in some of the areas they might have landed in began to doubt.

The bureau of aviation had considered the possibility of sending out an aerial searching party to try to locate the fliers but it decided it was useless to do so until there was some means of locating more definitely where they might have come down.

Gettelman Hits At Progressives

Charges Phil, Party With Duplicitous on Labor, Chain Store Bills

Green Bay (AP)—Speaking at an open meeting of the Clarence Noble post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Senator Ben Gettelman, candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state, last night accused the governor and Progressive Republicans of duplicity in dealing with labor and chain store tax laws.

"The governor says he believes in less hours of labor," Gettelman said, "but when I introduced the eight hour and minimum wage bill, the Progressive legislature failed to give it the needed support. At that time I possessed the deciding vote in the senate, but the LaFollette faction's politeness was instrumental in defeating the bill."

"The attitude of the Progressives on unemployment insurance illustrates their faithlessness. The law was passed but Assemblyman Groves, a friend of the governor who sponsored the measure, recently suggested postponement of enforcement of the law on the ground that this was not time for such legislation."

"The governor, in his statement announcing himself as a candidate, again mentions the chain store issue. Since 1929 I have introduced such tax bills. A few months ago, the governor willingly compromised in passing the $3,000,000 unemployment relief bill. Among its provisions was a tax on chain stores. At the time of the passage of the law, I had my chain store tax bill up for consideration. The difference between the LaFollette measure and mine was that he favored a temporary tax while mine was permanent. The result is that the home-owned stores will again have to go through the same struggle for a permanent tax."

Tom Mix's Daughter in Action for Annulment

Monticello, N. Y. (AP)—Because she was only 17 when she married, Nadine Ruth Gilmore, daughter of Tom Mix, movie actor, has had her marriage annulled.

She married Douglas Gilmore, a Hollywood actor, at Yuma, Ariz., July 9, 1931. Proceedings were begun several weeks ago in supreme court here, efforts being made to keep the action secret.

Two Bank Robbers in Michigan are Caught

Monroe, Mich. (AP)—Two men who robbed the Monroe County bank at Dundee of $7,078.45 were in custody today. They gave their names as John Reagan, 46, Toledo and Glen Kratz, 42, alias Richard Dickerson, Lulu, Mich.

They were captured by posse late yesterday, a few hours after the robbery, on a farm near Lamberville. The money was recovered.

Prison Camp Officials Accused of Brutality

Florida Convicts Tell About Use of Lash And "Sweat Box"

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Tales of brutal use of the lash and "sweat box" at the state prison camp where Arthur Maillefert, 19-year-old New Jersey youth, died in chains, were told as the habeas corpus hearing for two officials charged with his murder progressed today.

Bronzed convicts came before Judge George Couper Gibbs in his investigation of the cases against Captain George Courson and Guard Solomon Higgenbotham who have been indicted for first degree murder in Maillefert's death.

Stories of whippings, confinement in stocks, barrels and "sweat boxes" such as the one where Maillefert died of strangulation with a chain tightened about his neck and his feet in stocks, were related to the judge.

Describing Maillefert's death, the convicts said he had complained of being ill and unable to work and was stripped of clothing and placed in a barrel with only his head and feet outside. He was fed only bread and water. At night he was placed in the dreaded "sweat box" with a chain about his neck, they said. He died there.

Captain Courson and Higgenbotham contend Maillefert, serving a term for robbery, was placed in the "sweat box" for attempts to escape and refusal to work and that he deliberately committed suicide by strangulation.

BULLETIN

Washington (AP)—Urging legislation to expand the currency, Senator Borah (R., Idaho) said in the senate today "It is now estimated this deficit has cost us from $150,000,000,000 to $200,000,000,000, compared to the estimate cost of the World War to the nations of 'something like $35,000,000,000.'"

Jurges Must Appear in Trial of His Assailant

Chicago (AP)—Judge John Sbarbaro today warned Bill Jurges, Chicago Cub shortstop, that he would issue a subpoena to bring him to court if he persists in his refusal to appear against his gunwielding assailant, Violet Valli.

Miss Valli was unable to appear in court today when her case was called. She was charged with assault with intent to kill and the hearing set for July 15. Her bond was set at $7,500.

"I understand Mr. Jurges doesn't want to prosecute," said Judge Sbarbaro, "but you, Mr. Officer, you bring him to court or I'll issue a subpoena for him."

Jurges, who was shot in the right side and left hand by the pretty divorcee Wednesday, was reported recovering rapidly today.

Writ of Error Obtained By Lawyer for Curtis

Trenton, N. J. (AP)—John Hughes Curtis, convicted of obstructing the search for the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, was awarded a writ of error by the supreme court today, returnable at Trenton July 28.

Ryman-Herr, of counsel for the Norfolk boat builder, obtained the writ from the court clerk's office. Curtis is scheduled to be sentenced by Judge Adam O. Robbins at the Flemington courthouse Monday.

The writ of error, issued as a matter of course, has the effect of an appeal. Lloyd Fisher, also of counsel for Curtis, said shortly after the boat builder's conviction that there were more than 100 grounds upon which the jury's verdict could be appealed.

Pleads Not Guilty of Mail Robbery Charge

Wausau (AP)—Paul Levans, 34, of Superior, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned before United States Commissioner B. E. Smith on a charge of stealing and hiding five mail sacks at Aniwa May 12.

Bond was set at $4,000 and failing to provide it, he was ordered held in Marathon county jail.

The complaint made by Postoffice Inspector T. H. Evans of Appleton, named several other persons. Levans was held here on a state charge of breaking into a warehouse. Indications were that the state charge will be dropped.

Commons Advance Bill Boosting Irish Duties

London (AP)—By a vote of 232 to 30 the house of commons today passed on third reading a measure empowering the government to levy a duty up to 100 per cent on all imports from the Irish Free State.

The bill was approved at the request of J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, who described it as the only means of retaliation for the Free State's refusal to meet Irish demands on the Irish land annuity.

Blind Accused of Killing Blind in Triangle Story

Chicago (AP)—Out of the kingdom of the blind today came a story of love and death.

It was the old story of the eternal triangle. But it was new because it came from the realm of the sightless.

As the Warren-ave police told it, two blind men—friends because they played the same profession of begging pennies on the streets—fell in love with the same woman.

The woman, Mrs. Richard Roberts, blind in one eye, married a man who is 37 and who can see very dimly from one eye. He is in jail—accused of killing his totally blind friend, Harry Gruber, 35. Roberts died of a fractured skull. Gruber died of a fractured skull. Exactly how he died may never be known but this is the story as it was pieced together by the police after they talked to Mrs. Roberts.

Democrats and Garner Fail to Agree on Aid

FIRM IN HIS STAND

Garner Refuses to Yield on Loans Provision in Relief Bill

Washington (AP)—Speaker Garner and senate Democrats reached no agreement at a conference today on the $2,100,000,000 unemployment relief bill.

A committee of senate Democrats conferred with Garner for almost two hours to work out an agreement on the relief bill but the speaker insisted that his provision for loans to individuals should stay in the bill in the face of opposition from President Hoover.

Another conference was planned in effort to decide whether the bill should be sent to the president in its present form or modified.

Senators who conferred with Garner said he was not convinced that President Hoover would veto the bill in its present form.

Action on the relief bill conference report, scheduled for today in the senate, was postponed until tomorrow to allow the Democrats to decide upon their program. The report was approved yesterday by the house.

A sub-committee of three senators was appointed to meet with Speaker Garner and the house conferees on the relief bill in an attempt to work out a compromise.

Those selected were Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, and Senators Bulkley, of Ohio, and Wagner, of New York. All three were members of the special Democratic committee which drew up the bill approved by the senate.

The huge bill was approved by the house yesterday at the behest of Speaker Garner and despite President Hoover's objections to its expansion in the field of possible borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Thirty-five Republicans left their leaders to vote with Democrats, marking up a 202 to 157 vote for the measure.

Few Clues Found In Murder Case

Madison Man Believed Victim of Bootleg Feud—Slain in Illinois

Madison (AP)—With only slender clues on which to work Madison police sought today to trail down the slayers of Andrew Presti, 39, Italian laborer, on the assumption that he had been the victim of a bootleg feud.

Presti accompanied a stranger from his home here last Tuesday night on an unexplained mission and was not heard of again until two farmers found his body along a road outside of Belvidere, Ill., yesterday with bullet wounds in the head.

It had first been reported that Presti had no police record and was not known to have been involved in the liquor traffic but police said today that he had been arrested twice, once for bootlegging and once for carrying a concealed weapon.

Tire marks of an automobile, a man's handkerchief stained with blood, a woman's handkerchief and a milk bottle of a Madison dairy company partly filled with red wine were slender clues left behind at the scene of the slaying.

Although Presti was receiving aid from city and county charity funds, officials believe he may have had access to some other income. They pointed out that Presti was driving an automobile registered in another man's name, and that he frequently turned down offers of employment on a plea of illness.

Presti lost one eye officials said because of frequent assaults at night and when they arrested him work Presti told them he no longer needed assistance.

Third Man is Held for Alleged Part in Plot

Prairie du Chien (AP)—Cracked with collusion in an attempted plot Charles E. Scott, Gay's M.D. a restaurant proprietor, is to be given a preliminary hearing here Monday.

Scott was arrested after Michael and Ernest Capus brothers, who confessed he had offered them $100,000 to set his restaurant afire. He was held under $1,000 bond and arraigned yesterday before County Judge Jeremiah O'Neill.

The Capus brothers were arrested Wednesday after automobile tracks had been traced from the scene of three Gay's M.D. fires to the Capus farm. Damage estimated at $10,000 resulted from the fires. The brothers waived preliminary hearing.

Platteville Woman Dies In Automobile Accident

Chicago (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Gail, 34, of Platteville, Wis., was fatally injured today by an automobile in Grant park near the lake. She and her husband Albert had parked their car and were walking toward the loop. She stepped off a curb ahead of her husband and was hit by a car driven by John Leiner, 22, who was held for the inquest.

France, Germany Reach Terms on Debts Question

At White House

Washington (AP)—Senator Moses (R., N. H.), told newspaper men after a brief conference at the White House today that he had been talking "politics" with President Hoover. Moses declined to amplify this statement, or to say if he had discussed the Wagner-Garner relief bill.

Europe moved to put an end to war reparations today in an agreement which calls upon the world to rally to the cause of peace.

The document, bringing to a close the reparations and war debts conference, marks complete agreement on all points between France and Germany, for whom compromise was the most difficult.

"The powers that have signed this treaty," said a preamble to the agreement, "do not claim that the accomplishment at Lausanne, which will completely put an end to reparations, can by itself assure that era of peace which all nations desire."

"But they do hope for an assurance that all these aims of such deep significance will be understood and appreciated by all pacific elements in Europe and in the world. They do hope that these accomplishments, so ardently attained, will be followed by fresh achievements."

The preamble is followed by five resolutions dealing with details of the agreement.

Lausanne, Switzerland (AP)—France and Germany have reached a complete agreement on the issues under discussion at the debts and reparations conference, it was officially announced this afternoon.

Under the agreement, German's final reparations payment is fixed at a nominal three billion gold marks (about $750,000,000). Bonds for that amount will be issued at a price of ninety when Germany's credit permits.

The preamble to the agreement declares that reparations are finally ended and that a new era of relations among nations is commenced on the basis of reciprocal confidence.

Announcement that an accord had been reached was made while Premier Herriot of France, was holding a final conference with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, in the latter's chamber.

The finishing touches of the text of the accord will be made late today.

The German bond issue will be withheld for at least three years. The sinking fund is fixed at 1 per cent. The bonds will mature in 37 years. If the bond issue is not floated within 15 years, the whole issue is cancelled.

The "war guilt" controversy which is so irritating to Germany is not mentioned nor is the Versailles treaty named, but the agreement implies that the post-war reparations chapter is relegated to history.

Will Invite U. S. A resolution asking the United States to attend a world economic conference, where the Lausanne convention would be woven into a "universal accord" was expected to be adopted tomorrow.

The United States government recently announced its willingness to attend a world economic conference but it voiced several plans which would have linked that conference with the Lausanne meeting.

Mr. MacDonald and M. Herriot were the two most pleased among the statesmen here over the agreement.

As the statesmen emerged from their meeting, Chancellor von Papen, who was walking beside M. Herriot, departed without comment.

The dramatic agreement consciously lifted a heavy burden from the shoulders of the delegates, leaving them with the task of securing a real step towards world recovery.

A session to initial the agreement was fixed for tonight when a final meeting tomorrow, when Mr. MacDonald will deliver the closing speech, and the French premier and the German chancellor will give their version of the accord.

The difficult negotiations since June 16, were concluded in the early morning hours, after which the negotiators settled the amount of bond.

Leon Fraser, American director of the Bank for International Settlements, drew up the legal machinery for issuance of the bond, which the banks will play a predominant role.

During the last arguments Chancellor von Papen contended that inasmuch as Germany had dropped political conditions to an agreement, France could accept a lower bond.

The French argued that they already had reduced their original demand from 8,000,000,000 marks to 4,000,000,000, but to meet Germany's gesture they were willing to accept 3,000,000,000.

The chancellor wanted it scaled down to 1,900,000,000 marks—the amount which was suspended by the Hoover moratorium, but the French replied that this would leave them nothing for bargaining with America.

Wilson revealed that shortly before the tragedy "Earl got kind of smart so I fired him."

Find No Motive For Suicide by Smith Reynolds

Authorities Continue Investigation in Mysterious Shooting

Winston-Salem, N. C. — (AP) — Mystery still surrounds the death of a young man, the son of a prominent family, who was found dead in a rooming house. The authorities are continuing their investigation of the death of young Smith Reynolds as the hour for his funeral approached.

R. E. Laster, one of the guards of the 20-year-old son of the late R. J. Reynolds, multimillionaire tobacco manufacturer, and Dr. W. N. Dalton, coroner, said they were satisfied it was a case of suicide.

Sheriff Transou, Scout said he could find no suicide motive, and therefore would continue his investigation, although he said he had no evidence that it was suicide. He called to his aid J. M. McMichael, assistant solicitor of the superior court, and Carlisle Higgins, district solicitor, with whom he was to confer today.

Libby Holman Reynolds, bride of a few months who was with her husband in an adjoining room when the bullet was fired through the door, was recovering from a nervous collapse which followed the shooting, and was expected to attend the funeral.

Meanwhile, authorities hid their time for an opportunity to question the former Broadway musical revue star. First reports from members of the household said she was in her bedroom when the death bullet was fired on an adjoining sleeping porch. Later it was said she was lying across the sleeping porch bed when the shot was fired. She was expected, as soon as she is able, to throw light on the actual shooting, as well as on some possible motive for a suicide.

Followed Party

Reynolds died in a hospital early Wednesday morning, four hours after the bullet pierced his brain.

The shooting followed a small party at the Reynolds estate. Reports that it followed decision by Reynolds to leave home to keep a "tryst" were not confirmed by J. Walker, life-long chum of the tobacco heir.

Walker, who was to have accompanied Reynolds to town about the time of the shooting, which occurred at 1 a. m., said he did not "understand it that way." He said Reynolds had said he was going to town, and was closing window, and the lower part of the house when he saw Reynolds go out on the sleeping porch. The shot followed a few moments later.

Coroner Dalton said he had found blood on the bed, and part of the rooming house there, but that he saw no reason to change his original opinion that it was suicide.

W. N. Reynolds, Smith's other guardian, came here with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holman of Cincinnati, parents of the young widow, and with her brother and sister. He said he had no reason to doubt that it was suicide. He said he did not know if the widow had any claim on the inheritance of her young husband.

Members of the Reynolds and Holman families secluded themselves and newspaper men were barred from the rooming house.

Reynolds' older brother, Richard J. Reynolds, was not here, but had been advised of his brother's death by radio to his freighter yacht on the east African coast. Whether he would return home soon was not known. Stratton Conner, attorney for Smith Reynolds, said the brother had answered two messages merely asking for more details.

The funeral at home was set for 11 a. m. today.

Puzzle Over Estate

Meanwhile, attorneys and others began investigation into what effect the death would have on disposition of the vast estate of the tobacco magnate who died 14 years ago. Some who had intimate knowledge of the intricate will and trusts involved said there was no provision for inheritance by wives of children of the Reynolds heirs, the estate being held in trust for the sons until they should reach the age of 25. This was expected to leave the former Libby Holman, once known as the Broadway torch singer, with only a half interest in young Reynolds' personal property, the value of which has not yet been estimated.

The status of Anne Smith, nee Anne Cannon, textile millions heiress, young Reynolds' first wife, and young daughter was also somewhat in doubt, despite the fact that in a separation agreement she waived all claims of herself and their child in accepting a $1,000,000 settlement when she and Smith Reynolds "agreed to disagree."

She obtained a divorce in Reno last year, shortly before Reynolds' marriage in Hawaii to Libby Holman was announced. Recently she married Frank B. Smith of Charlotte.

Her right to sign away her daughter's rights was doubted in some circles, further complicating the situation.

The share of Smith Reynolds in his father's estate has been estimated at approximately $30,000,000. However, since he was to receive only an income from it until his 25th year, and had not actually participated in a division, the status of his heirs is not yet definitely known.

This same provision of the father's will also left the position of the state of North Carolina and the federal government clouded. Should it be found that Reynolds actually leaves an estate of $25,000,000,000 instead of merely leaving a right to a future division, the state would collect approximately $3,480,000 in inheritance taxes and the federal government: $3,384,000.

More than 60 persons were lost when the new French submarine Promethee sank off Cherbourg, France. This is a picture of the Vangeur, a sister-ship of the Promethee, which resembles the foundered under-sea vessel in practically all respects. The Promethee, one of the fleet of large cruiser-type submarines now being built by the French government, is an armored speed craft 302 feet long and capable of a speed of nineteen knots.

Storms Kill Two, Injure Score in Ohio and Indiana

Heavy Property Loss as Result of Winds, Lightning and Heavy Rains

Cleveland — (AP) — Tornado winds, lightning and heavy rainfall, which swept over parts of Ohio and Indiana late yesterday, killed two persons and injured more than 20 others, and did heavy damage to property.

A bolt of lightning killed Wallace Hall, 35, of Amherst, Ohio, while he was plowing in an open field near that town, and at Cincinnati, John Stover, 7, was killed when lightning struck a tree beneath which he and other children were playing.

Earl Seiler, working with Hall and Norman Luebbert, one of the Stover boys' play-mates, were knocked unconscious but were not seriously injured.

About 20 persons suffered injuries at Vernon, Ind., a village of 600, when a tornado wrecked the business district and damaged more than 100 residences.

The Indiana tornado blew part of the roof of the Jennings-co court-house into tree tops across the street, uprooted trees and hurled them a block away, and put electric power and communication lines out of service.

Gov. Harry G. Leslie and Adj. Gen. Paul E. Tomback of Indiana, went to the stricken village last night to supervise relief work. Ten state policemen were placed on patrol duty there to prevent looting.

In Ohio, a tornado tore through Pike and Jackson-cores, demolished the plant of the Chapman Clay company at Oak Hill, with $15,000 damage, and wrecked the Methodist Episcopal church at White Gravel.

Scores of other structures were damaged and many valuable farm crops destroyed. Several other sections of Ohio also experienced the worst storm in years.

Today and Tomorrow

Mr. Lippmann, formerly editor of the New York World, is one of the foremost liberal thinkers in the country. He has complete freedom of expression in the articles appearing under his signature.

BY WALTER LIPPMANN.

The Hoover-Garner Controversy

Mr. Hoover and Mr. Garner have plunged into a controversy on a problem which neither convention considered. Yet it deals with what is in many ways the most fundamental and serious problem before the country. Reduced to its simplest terms the problem is this: with commodity prices as a whole fallen by 35 per cent since 1929 and the prices of farm products by 50 per cent, how is the great mass of debt contracted before 1929 to be supported?

There are involved the huge debts incurred by states and cities, the mortgage loans on farms and urban real estate, the bonds of railroads and of many industrial corporations, the bank loans of individuals and of business firms. A very considerable part of this debt is insupportable at the present level of prices, and there is no greater question before the country than to determine how these debts are to be dealt with.

Mr. Hoover's policy throughout the depression has rested on the premise that sooner or later prices must and would rise sufficiently to restore the solvency of the debtors. Relying upon this faith he committed himself to two main lines of action: one was to mobilize the Federal credit and to use it at strategic points to help financial institutions which were carrying frozen assets; the other was to stimulate as far as possible within the limits of the gold standard an expansion of credit to promote a rise in prices. Plainly enough the policy of lending public money to private financial institutions is one which can be justified only if within a reasonably short time there is a rise in prices which thaws out their frozen assets. On any other assumption the policy means only that good money is being thrown after bad money, and that the depression is being prolonged by delaying the readjustment of debts.

The rise in prices, on which Mr. Hoover staked all his hopes, has not yet occurred. The pressure on the debtors has, therefore, grown more severe. At this point Mr. Garner has appeared on the scene with a demand that the Federal government should lend its money not merely to creditors, institutions which have frozen assets on their hands, but directly and generally to large numbers of debtors. Mr. Garner's proposal is logical enough if I do not venture an opinion as to whether there is a good prospect of that rise in prices which our present policy depends upon. It can be said, however, that the prospect is certainly not so good as to justify any longer in failing to consider the alternative. The alternative is to admit that the price level of 1927-1929 was abnormal and will not be reached again within the next years, and that, therefore, a vast readjustment of debts has still to be undertaken. On that premise it would become necessary to consider what machinery ought to be set up by which the readjustment could most economically and fairly be carried out. There ought to be some alternative prepared to the ordinary painful process of individual foreclosure, bankruptcy and reorganization.

Conceivably, it may not be necessary to resort to it. Conceivable events in Europe and elsewhere may set in motion a recovery of prices which will thaw out the debts. But it would be imprudent not to prepare ourselves for the very real possibility that we shall not emerge from this depression except as we have emerged from others of similar magnitude, by a drastic and general readjustment of debts. Therefore, any man or group of men who can work out a program of readjustment of such a nature as to place the country in a position to do an inestimably great service to the nation.

Abandons Hunt Of Seven Years For Her Brother

Racine Woman Convinced Missing Man Buried in Potter's Field

Racine — (AP) — After a seven year search, Mrs. Bertha Krib of Racine, is convinced that her brother is dead and that his body is buried in Potter's field a short distance from home.

In April, 1925, the body of a man was recovered from Lake Michigan and held for several days at the morgue while the coroner attempted identification. Among the victim's effects was a watch which contained the picture of a girl.

A copy of the picture was published in the Journal-News, now the Journal-Times, with a request that anyone able to identify it communicate with the coroner. There was no response. The body was buried and forgotten.

Yesterday Mrs. Krib appeared at the Journal-Times office and asked permission to go through the newspaper's files for April, 1925. She thumbed over the yellowed pages until she reached the fading picture of a young girl.

"That's it," she exclaimed. "That is my picture, and it was Frank who was drowned."

Then she told of the disappearance of her brother, Frank Bloom, a former railroad and dock worker, who had been missing since December, 1924. He had carried the picture of his sister on the inside cover of his watch for years.

At the time the picture was published Mrs. Krib said she was ill and didn't hear of it until a few days ago when a friend recalled the incident while they were talking of her brother. She said she had paid the premiums on his insurance policy during all those years. Bloom was 52-years-old when he disappeared.

Babies Often are Overfed During Warmest Months

Crying of Youngsters on Warm Nights May Not Be From Hunger

Madison — The cry of a baby on a summer night may be no indication of hunger, but may be the result of overfeeding.

"During the summer months it may be advisable to reduce the amount of food given," declares the bulletin of the State Medical Society issued today.

"Even older children who are on a more or less mixed diet should be guarded from the dangers of overfeeding in hot weather," continues the bulletin. "Be sure that all food is perfectly fresh and is protected from dust and flies. Wide-open doors and windows which add so much to the joy and wholesomeness of living may at the same time, unless carefully screened, bring a danger into our dwellings. The fly and mosquito should receive no quarter from the mothers of little children. They may be carriers of dangerous diseases."

"Though it is advisable to reduce the amount of food given in hot weather, the amount of water usually should be increased. Give the infant and little child plenty of cool boiled water. The increased loss of water from the body through perspiration naturally produces thirst, and neither child nor adult can be comfortable when he is thirsty. Usually a child will ask for water when he is old enough to talk, but the little one who has not yet found his tongue needs the water he cannot ask for."

Suitable Clothing

"Suitable clothing, right living habits, and a wholesome environment are essential to the child's well being. In the matter of clothing, be guided by temperature rather than by tradition or fashion. Do not bundle up the baby with many layers of heavy clothing when the mercury is climbing high in the thermometer. The light-clothed little child in hot weather, whether infant or run-about, is becoming the rule rather than the exception."

"No matter in what season of the year the baby is born, healthy living habits should be started in the very beginning of its life. The little one who has to face a temperature of ninety degrees with no fixed and established regularity in habits of feeding, bathing, sleeping, and airing, is under a serious handicap. If the baby is being fed every four hours, the interval should not be shortened to three or lengthened to five simply to suit someone's convenience. The older child on a regular three-meals-a-day schedule should not have its appetite spoiled, and its digestion probably upset by 'piecing' between meals from the soda fountain, the pastry shop, or the confectioner's."

"The daily bath, to which the child has been accustomed since birth, probably will have to be supplemented by extra sponges during the hot summer. Few things are more refreshing and helpful on a hot muggy day than a sponge bath."

"Plenty of rest and sleep are essential always, and never more so than in summer. The nap, in a cool darkened room or quiet porch, and early bedtime and wonderful conservers of the little one's strength. Every mother should cling to the nap or rest periods until the baby is well past infancy."

Court Refuses to Restrict Right of Man in Occupation

St. Paul — (AP) — A man's right to labor in any occupation in which he is fit to engage, is a valuable right and should not be taken away or limited by injunction, the Minnesota Supreme court ruled in an opinion today.

Employed by an oil company at Buffalo Lake, Delvin Bertelsen resigned and went to work for a rival concern. The first company sought to enjoin him from taking the new job, claiming it had lost customers to that competitor by reason of Bertelsen's past position.

The supreme court found that to require Bertelsen to change his occupation or to move to a different community would be a harsh burden on him.

Chicago Cruise Delayed by Gale On Lake Michigan

Thirty Yachts, Cruisers Due to Arrive Here This Afternoon

Separated in a gale on Lake Michigan yesterday, yachts and cruisers on the annual cruise of the Chicago Yacht club failed to arrive here yesterday afternoon. There are approximately 30 boats on the cruise.

Word received here last night by Dr. A. L. Koch, treasurer of the newly organized Fox River Valley Power Boat association, revealed that most of the boats had anchored in the harbor at Sturgeon Bay, but a few were still attempting to make port in a high wind.

The boats arrived at Green Bay early this morning, and at 10 o'clock arrived at De Pere. They were due to pass through Appleton between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon. Approximately eight hours is required for the boats to make the trip through the many locks between Appleton and Green Bay.

Upon arrival in this city, the fleet was to be saluted by boats of the Appleton Yacht club. Speedboats and other fast craft were barred from making demonstrations on the river, however, while the fleet was moving through the locks.

Officials of the valley association were in communication with U. S. coast guard stations on Lake Michigan last night, and traced the various movements of the fleet by radio.

A celebration awaits fleet members upon their arrival at Fond du Lac. A dinner, dances and golf tournament is to be held at the Taedah Country club Saturday afternoon and evening. An automobile tour through this part of the valley, and a trip up the Wolf river to Lake Poygan, also is being planned.

Progressives to Read Roll Call

Plan to Call Attention to Vote on Utility Probe Costs

Madison — (AP) — State Senator Thomas M. Duncan, executive secretary to Governor LaFollette said in a statement today that all Progressive candidates in their campaign speeches will read the roll call on passage of the act by the last legislature requiring utilities to pay the cost of investigations concerning them. Referring to the public service commission's interlocutory order last week for a 12 1/2 per cent cut in rates of the Wisconsin Telephone company Duncan said:

"The cost of the telephone investigation which resulted in cutting telephone rates over a million and one half dollars for the people of Wisconsin was not paid for by the taxpayers but was charged up to the telephone company. This was not accomplished, however, with out a terrific fight on the part of the telephone company's state senators who wanted the taxpayers to foot the bill. The official records of the state senate show that there was a tie vote on this question in the senate and was decided in favor of the taxpayer by Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber.

Duncan charged that "the following state senators, all of whom are now supporting Mr. Kohler (for governor) voted to let the taxpayer pay for the investigation: Senators Barker, Blanchard, Boldt, Carroll, Baggert, Gettelman, Morris, Mehigan, Edwards, Fellenz, Goodland, Hall, Otto Mueller, Roethe, Sneider and White."

"The following state senators," he said "voted to have the telephone company pay the cost of this investigation: Senators Anderson, Cashman, Clifford, Duncan, Foss, Polakowski, Hunt, Keppel, Loomis, Anton Miller, Nelson, Roberts, Rush, Severson, Smith and Zantow."

The tie vote of 16 to 16 was broken by Lieut. Gov. Huber, Duncan said.

"This roll call is the most extreme example of robbing the taxpayer that any group of Conservative senators has exhibited in Wisconsin for at least a generation," he stated.

"How many daily newspapers will dare to publish this roll call if the telephone company orders them to suppress it?"

Davila Revamps Chilean Cabinet

Acting President Fills Places Vacated by Resignation — Junta Ended

Santiago, Chile — (AP) — Carlos G. Davila, who became acting president of Chile yesterday when two members of his governing junta resigned, today swore in a reorganized cabinet and announced the junta was at an end.

This development followed an all-night conference with former President Carlos Ibanez, recently returned from exile in Argentina. A number of outstanding political leaders participated in the discussion.

It had been expected Ibanez would be a member of the government, but apparently Senor Davila is determined to operate for the present without him. New members of the cabinet are:

Pedro Lagos — war.
Francisco Nieto — navy.
Eusebio Penarvillan — lands.
Juan Rosenthal — justice.

The rest of the cabinet remains unchanged.

Associations that are to be represented at Madison are affiliated with the state body. They are: Kaukauna Livestock Shipping association, Drephal-North Cicero Shipping association, Center Valley Shipping association, Greenville Livestock Shipping association, and Dale Livestock Shipping association.

Delinquent Taxes Mount Alarming

Many Wisconsin Counties Are Facing Serious Situations

Madison — (AP) — Wisconsin counties are facing an alarming situation in the rapid increase in delinquent taxes because, instead of receiving cash they are being forced to buy themselves the tax certificates usually taken up by private buyers, the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance declared in a statement today.

The Alliance said that both the city and county of Milwaukee, whose financial condition was thought to be good now find themselves in a serious plight due to the delinquency of real and personal taxes.

The amount of delinquent taxes sold in Milwaukee-co increased 215 per cent from 1928 to 1931, the statement said.

"Milwaukee city is the only local taxing district in the state which conducts its own tax sales," the Alliance asserted. "The sale held in February 1932 aggregated $6,497,540. Of this amount only seven per cent, or $446,060, was purchased by private persons. In addition $7,509,369 real and personal taxes were extended to July 31, 1932. To date, about five per cent has been paid. From 1927 to 1931 the delinquent real estate tax sales, in all counties of the state jumped from $3,589,692 to $7,331,964. Tax bidders bought only 26 per cent. The rapid increase in the amount of delinquent taxes is doubly alarming because counties are being forced to buy the certificates, something which is not usually done until every effort to interest private buyers has failed."

"The law provides that towns, cities and villages may pay their county tax levies in delinquent taxes. If these taxes are not paid and the county is unable to sell the certificates, the county is left 'holding the bag' as was pointed out at the recent conventions of Wisconsin County Clerks and County Boards associations."

In many counties the sale of delinquent 1932 taxes, scheduled by law to have been held early in June was postponed by treasurers upon the advice of Governor LaFollette.

If the sales had been held the amount of tax certificates offered for sale by the counties would have been doubled, the Alliance said.

"Judging by the experience of counties in which sales were held," the statement went on, "the amount of 1932 tax certificates which will be purchased by private persons at the October 15th sale will not exceed 10 per cent." October 15 is the last date for holding the sales.

Five Residence Permits in June

He issued 28 building and six heating permits.

National Guard Ready for Camp

3,500 Citizen Soldiers Expected at Camp Douglas Tomorrow

Camp Douglas — (AP) — Sixty-five units of the Wisconsin National Guard, including about 3,500 citizen soldiers, will gather here tomorrow for their annual two weeks field training encampment.

Under command of Brigadier General Ralph M. Emmelt, the adjutant general, detachments of infantry, medical, tank and police units took over the barracks during the last few days to prepare for the arrival of the peace-time doughboys.

An unusually large attendance at the encampment is expected by Gen. Emmelt because of unemployment. He said unit commanders throughout the state have received numerous applications for enlistment, but army regulations do not permit an increase in the strength of the National Guard at the present time.

Programs of boxing, wrestling, vaudeville, baseball and concerts have been arranged by Maj. Harold A. Anderson, camp recreation and athletic officer, to relieve the monotony of camp routine.

Officers who will assist Gen. Emmelt in directing the encampment are: Lieut. Col. Edward J. Gehl, infantry, chief of staff; Lieut. Col. Nicholas M. Senzani, camp adjutant; Maj. John F. Kuehl, infantry, assistant to camp adjutant; Col. William F. Lorenz, camp surgeon; Maj. C. L. Irwin, federal army, instructor; Lieut. Col. Harry G. Williams, quartermaster; Lieut. Col. Henry C. Hengels, assistant quartermaster; Capt. Donald M. Farris, mess officer; Capt. George Gove, assistant quartermaster, and Capt. Sam Slaughter, provost marshal.

Rural School Districts to Meet Monday

Boards Will be Elected, Budgets Set, and Other Business Transacted

Rural school districts of Outagamie county will hold their annual meetings at their schoolhouses next Monday evening in accordance with the state law, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Among the business to come before these meetings will be the selection of officers for the next year; setting budgets for 1932-33; determining the length of the school year; deciding on improvements on new buildings; deciding on the continuance of rural school music; hearing of reports for the last year; and other matters.

Material for the meeting was sent out last week by Mr. Meating, who is urging auditing committees to hold their meetings on the Saturday before the annual meeting.

The state course of study, Mr. Meating points out in the notices sent to school board members, is outlined on a 36-week basis. Children need at least nine months to complete this work and many communities even maintain ten months schools.

"Don't take hard times out on the children by cutting down the school year," he urges. "Children need certain goals in each grade and a shorter year is going to mean more school years to finish the goals for the eight grades. These goals are minimum high school entrance requirements."

"All of you have had ample opportunity to know that the rural school music supervisors can and do teach music. You know that music cannot be taught well without a supervisor. You know whether you want music in your school or not. Music appreciation is the greatest enjoyment that you can put within reach of your children. Every district can afford music. I am hoping the districts will continue the plan of supervised music developed in the county. I urge it; but it is entirely up to the districts if they want to give it to their children."

The cost of the full time plan, whereby the supervisor visits the school once each week, is $80 per year. One half this service, under a new plan which has been devised this year, will cost $40. Under this plan the supervisor visits the school but once in two weeks.

Roosevelt May Talk in Midwest

Democratic Nominee Ponders Tour of Agricultural Regions

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—The all-important Democratic campaign question as to when and where Governor Roosevelt will speak to the farmers of the middle west may be one of the first decisions of the Democratic presidential nominee.

The governor was to confer here today with Arthur Mullen of Nebraska, Roosevelt floor manager at the Chicago convention. Mullen said the mid-western trip was what had brought him to Albany.

One of the foundation stones on which Democratic hopes are built is the belief that the party can win the farmers away from the Republican party, and it is known that Democratic leaders consider the governor's projected mid-western trip as one of the most important which he will make.

The conference with Mullen is the first of a number on vital campaign matters which will keep Mr. Roosevelt busy at Hyde Park and New York city through Sunday.

The matter of party finances will take much of his time with selection of the treasurer of the national committee and the chairman of the finance committee the first steps toward efforts to fill the campaign chest.

There has been no hint from the party leaders as to who is being considered for the two important party financial posts. If, indeed, they have gone so far as to consider names, National Chairman James A. Farley will talk with Mr. Roosevelt over the weekend and this is one of the things expected to be considered.

The Mullen visit ends a period devoted largely to state affairs by the governor. For the last few days he has had little time to give to campaign matters.

Next week he will be vacationing off shore along the New England coast with his boys. He will go to sea immediately after this weekend of political conferences.

Building Permits

Four building permits were issued Thursday by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted: Fred Kuehn, 1804 W. Lawrence, one car garage, cost $80; Mrs. Francis Lang, 227 N. Bennett, two car garage, cost $125; Joseph Kohl, 1016 N. Richmond-st., addition to garage, cost $50; and Cohen Brothers, 311 N. Clark-st., fruit warehouse, cost $4,000.

School Board to Hear

Annual Financial Report

The annual financial report covering the operation of Appleton public schools during the 1931-32 term will be presented to the school board at a meeting tonight at the office of B. J. Rohan, city superintendent of schools in Lincoln school. The report was prepared by Miss Carrie Morgan, secretary of the board, and Mr. Rohan.

GARNER'S MOTHER AT FIRESIDE IN LITTLE TEXAS HOME

Far from the turbulent hall where her son was honored with the Democratic nomination for vice president of the United States, Mrs. Sarah Garner, 85, is pictured here resting contentedly in her cheery little cottage near Detroit, Red river county, Texas. It was by this fireside she taught John Nance Garner to read and from here he set out 40 years ago, a young farmer with a smattering of law, to enter politics which carried him finally to Congress, into the speakership of the House and then to the vice presidential nomination of his party.

Roses Need Care When Blooming Comes to End

BY W. A. TAYLOR

Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry,

U. S. Department of Agriculture

Roses make payment for intelligent and skillful care in summer. This is true even of the roses whose season of bloom has passed. Another blooming season will come next year and a healthy vigorous plant with a root system spread deep in fertile soil is preparing to blossom abundantly. It is particularly true of the roses that bloom more or less constantly through the summer.

The exception is the Rugosa or wrinkled Japanese rose often used as a shrub or in rose hedges. These rugged roses seem to resent coddling and too fertile a soil and bloom better if left more or less to their own devices.

Hybrid teas furnish a good share of the summer roses for cutting in most of the southeastern two-thirds of the country. These respond to summer care, summer feeding, and protection from insect and fungus enemies.

The well prepared rosebed for hybrid teas should have a fairly heavy soil that contains at least some clay with plenty of organic matter worked deep into it.

Don't Feed Too Heavy

After the first deep cultivation in early spring it is not wise to try to work in much bulky fertilizing material, but roses respond satisfactorily to occasional tonic doses of weak manure water or to weak solutions of sodium nitrate.

A cupful of sodium nitrate dissolved in five gallons of water and applied at the rate of a quart or two to a rose bush will stimulate growth and make the plants more vigorous. Bone meal worked into the soil from six inches to a foot away from the bushes helps to make stems longer and stronger. In applying summer feeding always do so just before giving the bed a thorough watering.

It is poor management to sprinkle roses as a substitute for thorough waterings. The same quantity of water will do far more good if applied once a week than it will in small daily doses. For best results soak the bed thoroughly and then provide a mulch for the surface.

As a general purpose fungicide for roses, sulphur dust (not flowers) of Rofus, but a finely ground product specially prepared for this purpose) should be applied with a hand dust gun at intervals of about 10 days throughout the growing season. A thorough application that will cover both sides of the leaves is essential.

Spraying with wettable sulphur or with Bordeaux mixture, to which insecticidal materials may also be added if required, will afford even better protection, but these materials are obtainable at plant stores.

Snip off the faded blossoms, and remove and burn withered leaves. Roses often take a rest in the heat of summer, but if well cared for may blossom freely again in the fall. At least six weeks before frost stop all fertilization and restrict the water supply to give the wood time to ripen and get ready for winter.

Committee to Open

Bridge Bids Monday

Bids on two bridges, a 1,000-gallon bauxite distributor and a boiler are to be opened Monday at a meeting of the county highway committee at the courthouse. Bids on the distributor and on the boiler, which must be of sufficient size to heat a 10,000-gallon tank car of material, are to be received separately. This equipment is to be used in doing road work in the county this summer.

The two bridges, the Vandenberg bridge across Duck creek on County Trunk J in the town of Oneida, and the Geenen bridge across the same creek on County Trunk S in the town of Freedom, are to have 18-foot spans and 28-foot roadways. Each the bridges will require 10.5 cubic yards of concrete.

Son Arrested for Murder of Aged Michigan Woman

Shoots Mother to Death, Wounds His Brother During Attack

Houghton, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Smith, 24, last night was shot and killed by her 45-year-old son, George, in their home at Atlantic Mine.

She died as she knelt in her bedroom praying, a rosary clutched in her fingers. Over her stood her son, who was reloading his rifle when another son, Steve, 50, rushed into the room. Steve received the next bullet, which struck him in the chest, but he retained the strength to wrest the weapon from his brother and throw it out of a window.

A few minutes later, when Sheriff Frank Francisco arrived, George was sitting quietly in the kitchen. He was being led away in handcuffs, which he apparently had tossed into the kitchen stove, exploded.

In the county jail George Smith was sullen, but composed. He does not know why he shot his mother, he said. But his friends believe the reason is to be found in worry over business reverses. He came to his mother's home last May after he was obliged to give a filling station in Milwaukee. Since then he was unable to find work. His mother and a sister, Miss Mary Smith, were dependent on him for support.

In Court Today

Preparations were being made to arraign George before Justice Charles R. Little on a first degree murder charge, after subjecting him to a lengthy examination, expressed the opinion that the prisoner is sane.

George apparently had contemplated the shooting a long time. He bought the rifle here two weeks ago. Last night, with the weapon wrapped in a burlap bag with the trigger guard thrust through a hole, he approached his mother as she worked in her garden. Without warning he shot her once, the bullet striking her in the breast.

The aged woman screamed and staggered to the house. She grasped her rosary, knelt and was mumbling a prayer when George, following her, reached her side and fired the second shot. Mrs. Smith died immediately. Then Steve Smith rushed in and the men scuffled until Steve, after being shot in the chest, gained possession of the weapon. Sheriff Francisco found it outside a window, still wrapped in the burlap bag.

Mary Smith, visiting a neighbor, came home after the shooting.

Steve will recover physicians said. He and George were born in Poland, but lived at Atlantic Mine most of their lives.

Cool Weather Predicted For Tonight, Saturday

Continued summer weather with another slight drop in temperature is the weatherman's forecast for Appleton and vicinity tonight and Saturday. The mercury is due for a rise Sunday in the extreme eastern portions of the state, he says.

Similar predictions have been forecast over most of the midwest, with winds still shifting in the north-east, the mercury will continue to drop. At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 68 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 75 degrees above.

B. E. Meyerhoff, general field manager for the Aid Association for Lutherans, has returned from a week's trip to Omaha and other cities in Nebraska. He was accompanied by Mrs. Meyerhoff and Victor and Thelie Zeramba, Wausau.

Farmer Arrested for Intimidating Woman

Beloit (AP)—Orin Dallman, 50, a farmer, was under arrest today as authorities investigated a series of strange events that upset the peace of mind of a Milford Junction woman.

The woman said mysterious fires were started near her home, red crosses were marked on the sidewalk in front of the place, and to climax it, notes and a wreath of flowers were left on the porch.

Sheriff J. S. Fessenden said flowers had been put at the Dallman farm. Dallman, held on a charge of drunkenness, denied being responsible for the events.

The board of health held a short meeting at city hall Thursday afternoon. Monthly reports of the deputy health officer and city nurse were presented.

Indian Sculptor Carves Model of Christ on Cross

Work, Modeled in Ordinary Clay, Can be Seen on Jones Park Hillside

A life-size reproduction of "The Crucifixion" has been modeled in clay on the hillside in Jones park below W. Lawrence-st by Riley Bressette, a Wisconsin-born Chippewa Indian, whose home now is at St. Paul. Bressette was born in Bayfield. It is only since the depression, when he was unable to get regular work, that he discovered his ability to carve.

The cross on the hillside is nine and a half feet high with arms about four feet wide. The figure on the cross is life-size and it is remarkable for its life-like appearance. Muscles of the legs, arms and body are convincingly real. The nails through the hands and the feet, with tiny drops of blood, the crown of thorns on the brow, the agony depicted by the facial expressions, and the realistic appearance of the loincloth and the flowing hair are evidences of Bressette's artistry.

Bressette started work on the carving yesterday. He estimated that he spent some 12 hours in completing it. The clay used in the modeling was taken from the hillside and mixed with water. It is then kneaded by Bressette with his hands until it is in a workable condition, when it is added to the whole structure.

Knife Only Tool

An old pocket-knife, with a loose blade, is the only implement used by the Indian in completing the finer details of the carving. At noon Friday the carving was hardening and Bressette said that it could not be affected by rains when it is completely dried.

Bressette, before the depression deprived him of a job, was a laborer. He has been a lumberjack, a carpenter, a decorator, a painter, a mill hand and a teamster. His latent talents remained undiscovered until lack of work gave him plenty of idle time and caused him to decide to try his hand at this work.

His first large works, many of which are now preserved in Minneapolis park in St. Paul, have attracted considerable attention there. He also has made carvings at Green Bay and Marinette.

One of his best pieces, "The Supreme Sacrifice," is being maintained in this park. This carving depicts a fallen doughboy beside a shell hole. The shell has smashed a cross beside the hole and the doughboy, with his arms about the broken pieces, is pleading to God for mercy.

Bressette said that if his first piece of work here attracts enough visitors that he may carve several other designs on the hillside.

J. C. C. Holds 1st State Tennis Meet

Play Will Start Tomorrow Afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. Courts

The first annual state Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament will open here at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. courts. George LaBorde, Appleton, a former University of Wisconsin and Lawrence net star, and high ranking state player, will be chairman.

Elimination matches will be staged on the "Y" courts and Sunday the players will move to the Doty courts at Neenah for the final events. Doubles and singles will be played, but rating will be on basis of team play.

Contestants from Oshkosh, Milwaukee, Appleton, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan and Green Bay have entered. The Appleton entrants are George LaBorde, Dr. R. Landis, John Catlin, Harold Finger, Wilmer Jennerjahn and William Wang, Jr.

A tag party for contestants and for J. C. C. members is being planned for Saturday evening.

Beg Pardon

The council voted to proceed with the installation of an ornamental lighting system on Y Superior-st instead of Cedar-st, as was stated in the Post-Crescent Thursday. Four aldermen, C. O. Davis, Mike Steinhauer, George Brautigam and Philipp Vogt voted on the motion to defer, while eight voted against it, thus defeating the attempt to defer.

Realty Transfers

"Money Match?"

David Hutton happily said "I'll bet I do" when Betty Odelle (above) asked him if he wanted to marry Aimee Semple McPherson "for her money," according to Miss Odelle's testimony during the trial of Myrtle St. Pierre's $200,000 heart balm suit against the husband of Angelus Temple's woman pastor in Los Angeles.

Last year, according to Singler, the milk mergers cleaned up in clear profits $110,000,000, and of this total the farmers of Wisconsin lost $93,000,000 through being cut down the amount below the cost of milk production. Such a greed can be checked only by farmers organizing and setting a price on the milk at the farm, said Singler.

It appeared from Singler's talk that the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool is patterned after the Dairyman's League of New York. In March, 1931, the members of the league got prices for milk ranging from $1.35 per hundred pounds to $3.15. The exact price varied with the hauling distance of which the limit was 500 miles.

Fifty thousand farmers are members of the Dairyman's league, and 20,000 more are on the waiting list. Several years ago the league sent several Cornell university professors into Wisconsin to organize the farmers into a branch of the league. As the professors got more support from the department of markets and the college of agriculture and the milk producers were indifferent the professors did what they could but soon returned. According to Singler, Cornell is willing to put a dozen professors into Wisconsin again to assist in the organization of Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool and to make the latter a branch of the New York Dairyman's League.

A movement is on, according to Singler, to make members of any one farm organization in Wisconsin members of all the others in order to combine the entire farm force in the backing of legislative and price-fixing movements.

Singler made it clear to the Stephensville farmers that the saving of their farms from the rapacity of price gougers depends upon union and the concerted action of the entire group. United they may control the fate of agriculture in this country but divided they will be swallowed in the whirlpools of money greed.

Three Noted Film Stars are Richest in Movie Colony

Los Angeles (AP)—Three of Hollywood's most famous figures—Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, all of whom were pioneers in the film industry—are indicated as the screen colony's three wealthiest individuals in tax assessment rolls published today.

Chaplin, who made his money by making funny antics performed with a cane, derby hat and a pair of baggy trousers. Listed taxable stocks and bonds at prices prevalent on March 1, of $7,627,570. Cash and solvent credits amounting to $233,000 also were listed by the film comedian.

Second to Chaplin on the tax rolls is Mary Pickford, with stocks worth $3,616,940, interests in foreign trusts amounting to $176,190 and real estate valued at $192,260.

Mary's husband, Douglas Fairbanks, ranks third with stocks worth $1,384,690, interests in foreign trusts of $338,760 and real estate assessed at $75,450, in addition to his home, listed at $70,170.

How much wealth Chaplin, Fairbanks and Miss Pickford have in non-taxable securities was a matter of conjecture.

Farmers Organize Milk Pool Local At Stephensville

Officers to be Named as Soon as Enough Members are Secured

BY W. F. WINSEY

Through signing the declaration of principles, L. L. Lavezow and Arthur Schultz, became the first charter members of the proposed Stephensville local of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool. These men took the initiative at the close of an address by Walter E. Singler, president of the state organization in the opera house at Stephensville Thursday night. As soon as Lavezow and Schultz sign up a sufficient number of farmers, officers will be elected and the organization of the local will be completed. According to the promoters, constantly dropping milk prices will induce all local farmers to join the milk pool in an attempt to retain their farms. Farmers are generally forced to the conclusion that if they permit selfish, interested combinations to continue fixing farm prices of milk, that all that will be left for the milk producers will be the milk cans.

Reports of various standing committees, reviewing activities during the past quarter, were reviewed by committee chairmen. A dinner preceded the business session.

Major Parties Preparing Two Battle Lines

Adopt Distinct Methods of Approach in Campaigns for Election

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington—(AP)—Whatever turn it may take in the more decisive days to come, the presidential campaign is beginning with the two major parties preparing an entirely different approach, for once, to the affections of the American voter.

The Republicans, putting their faith in a don't-rock-the-boat appeal, are making their plans on the theory that the public, in times of stress, is inclined to swing toward conservatism, and try no experiments.

Following an entirely different line of reasoning, the Democrats are banking on the nation's readiness to reject precedents and seek a new pathway out of trouble.

It is a matter of dispute among politicians how far this situation will advance the long-awaited realignment of political groups into "conservatives" and "liberals" in place of the Republicans and the Democrats. Developments since the Chicago conventions have deepened the belief of many leaders that such a division may be in the making.

Only after days of hesitation have Al Smith and his principal supporters in the usually conservative eastern centers announced they will support Gov. Roosevelt. How many of the rank and file of Smith followers will do likewise remains conjectural. Mr. Roosevelt's friends believe he will give his major attention to the Republican west, traveling all the way to California to attend the Olympic games and the speak and confer enroute.

G. O. P. Active in East

Conversely, the Republicans are preparing to strike first at the east. Secretary Ogden Mills, a New York, will open the campaign next Monday night, speaking in Boston. In the west, Senator Norris has gone completely over to the Democratic ticket; Senator Johnson and others are ignoring the re-nomination of President Hoover and saying only good things about his Democratic opponent. The Seattle Times, an independent Republican newspaper which left the fold in 1896 to support Bryan, has come out for Roosevelt.

How the prohibition issue will fit into this picture cannot be forecast until the current series of dry meetings has been concluded.

As expected, the Prohibition party convention at Indianapolis found both the Republican submission plank and the Democratic repeal plank unsatisfactory. Opinions differ as to the effect of the Prohibitionists' decision to nominate a Georgia Democrat, William D. Upshaw, for president.

Southern speakers at the Democratic convention declared the repeal proposal would make several southern states doubtful, but other southerners denied it. It is possible that Upshaw may attract dissatisfied Democrats who might otherwise go to Hoover.

Far greater interest attaches, however, to the ultimate decision of Senator Borah, who declined the Prohibition party nomination with the suggestion that further dry conferences be awaited. Few politicians believe Borah actually will go the length of running on an independent ticket. If he does, a good many of the present calculations as to the prohibition split-up, north, south and west, may have to be revised.

Big Drop Recorded

In Number Seeking

Marriage Licenses

Only 48 applications for marriage licenses were made at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, during June, the second lowest number for this month in the last five years. The total number of licenses issued up to the end of June was 156, the lowest for that period in the last five years, records at Mr. Hantschel's office show.

June, as is usual in this county, was the month when most marriage licenses were sought so far this year. Totals for other months this year were: January, 11; February, 18; March 20; April 26; and May 32.

In June, 1931, there were 62 licenses applied for; June, 1930, 31; June, 1929, 83; and June, 1928, 82.

The total number of licenses issued in the first six months of 1931 was 193; 1930, 168; 1929, 213; and 1928, 214.

at its Milwaukee wool warehouse as soon after July 20 as possible. They are being urged to have their wool there by that date if they decide to have it marketed cooperatively. Word to this effect was received today by Gus Sell, county agent, from R. E. Richards, secretary and manager of the association at Portage. The purpose for closing its operations, Mr. Richards points out, is to hold expenses to a minimum.

THE GOVERNOR GOES FORWARD TO BATTLE

It appears that Saint George and the dragon with the fiery breath are coming to grips again at the primary although not everyone is quite satisfied as to which is Saint George and which the slimy reptile.

The Governor's announcement of candidacy covers the whole range of dispute with the regulars and takes left-hand jabs, straight punches and stiff up-bercuts at everyone who has not walked the straight line.

"Through the fawning subservience of most of the daily press, hired speakers and radio, through the Jewish and excessive use of money, the stalwarts have bombarded this state for a year and a half with malicious falsehoods and wholesale perversion of the truth on a scale unprecedented in the history of the commonwealth. It has had but one subject: To enable wealth, irresponsible to its just obligations to the state and nation that has created and guaranteed it, to shirk its fair share of the load."

We suppose that after a man becomes all wrought up in the heat of battle, he may actually believe a statement like that, but it would take a very heated condition before conviction would follow.

The standard of newspaper service will never be determined upon fawning subservience to anyone or thing, be it a governor or his opponents. To indicate what politics may do to the otherwise cool judgment and dependable reasoning of a man, the quoted statement provides a fair example.

According to the Governor's statement he and his friends are all lily-white and the opposition as black as the deepest pit in hell; everything good that has occurred in Wisconsin in the last two years has been due to his efforts, everything bad to the fiendish disposition of his opponents.

The accomplishments of his administration for the most part have come about through legislation, that is, acts passed by the senate and assembly. The Governor modestly assumes all credit for this. But where the legislature differed with him—and it was the same legislature—it immediately becomes "the corporate and privilege seeking influences."

The Governor feels sure that the regulars' assault upon him can only succeed "in the hope that the people of this state have short memories."

We rather think that it is the very shortness of those memories that makes it possible for any man in politics, squandering promises in wild generosity on every hand, to be elected to office. Memories need be only two years' old to bring to mind many statements and promises which would make the Governor fidget in his chair.

JUSTICE IN POLITICS

Political organizations should become embarrassed in the face of the performance of judicial duties. But they don't. They erase the word "judicial" and pay no more attention to justice than a hungry cat to the title of a stray piece of meat.

The recent Democratic convention handled three matters having to do with the rights of delegates to their seats and the merits of the two men proposed for permanent chairman.

The vote of the convention demonstrated that practically everyone voted according to his feeling for or against the leading candidate for the presidency. And yet arguments were long, full of involved legalities and seemingly presented with the anticipation of receiving the impartial judgment expected in a court of justice.

A neophyte in the political game might have breathlessly concluded that these cases would be decided upon their merits and therefore look ahead to the final decision as one of triumphant justice. But neophytes are due for rude awakenings.

When the vote was taken the merits were nowhere to be seen and blind justice was not only trampled under foot but had her blindfold pulled off and hidden. The decisions were as straight as a loop—but they were politics.

The Roosevelt delegation from Louisiana was seated because there were more Roosevelt votes in the convention than not. The same observation applies concerning the dispute from Minnesota.

It might be expected that when the name of Senator Walsh was presented for permanent chairman a break in the opposition would develop. Senator Walsh is not only a distinguished Democrat, he is one of our most distinguished statesmen. He has been at all times a true blue and temperate defender of the de-cencies of good government. But even more than that he has taken the offensive against the forces of evil and has trounced them so that Old Nick would not recognize his offspring. Still when it came to the vote the only thing considered was whether Senator Walsh favored Roosevelt or not.

As a court of justice a political convention is about as dependable as a blind man operating an airplane.

WHERE FIRE FLASHES

The country must not get so biased at political conventions as to overlook the prohibition national convention at Indianapolis.

For pouring out vials of wrath, for burning up the sidewalk, for singeing the hair clear into the scalp, this convention is worth while.

Its speakers are proving that thing so often proved before that when thieves or cronies in some wrongful endeavor fall out, the people get the truth and honest men their due.

The keynote has turned with bitter tongue upon the Democrats of the south. He now realizes that when they rejected Mr. Smith four years ago it was not, as claimed, on account of his wetness but, as denied, on account of his religion.

They are finding out by looking into the records carefully that the Democratic plank of today is a much wetter concern than Mr. Smith's stand of four years ago, and yet the ardent Democratic South is supporting it where it wouldn't support Mr. Smith because it claimed he was too wet. The keynote has discovered that the South is populated with bigots and prays the Lord "to have mercy on their bigoted souls." That is a thing the rest of the country has been aware of for quite a while. It was a condition of bigotry which the prohibitionists used to their advantage for long, fanned when its embers seemed to die out and relit at opportune times.

At any rate the recent experience of these professional dries is opening their eyes to the value of facts, truth, dependable things. They have read the planks of both parties and this is their conclusion, in the language of Dr. Clinton N. Howard, the keynote:

"The Republican ambidextrous, amphibious and porous plaster plank is capable of bending in any direction like a piece of whale bone. It takes off from dry land and cracks up in a still. The Democratic plank is perforated with corkscrews and bung-holes. There is nothing ambiguous about that plank. It and the candidate are for forthright repeal."

Even in their anger, with hot forehead and throbbing arteries, defeat and disillusion have brought the calmness that can construe the English language with a fair degree of accuracy.

NAVY ROMANCE

One of the least important of recent news items was the paragraph that was printed the other day saying that the old U. S. gunboat Helena has been decommissioned and is about to be sold at Cavite, in the Philippines. Yet a little dispatch like that can set one thinking about the strange fate of ships, and ships-of-war especially, and the unexciting ways in which they can end their exciting careers.

This Helena was built away back in 1896. It served in the war with Spain, and until it was decommissioned it was one of the very few ships still surviving on the navy's active list to hold that distinction. And now, unless some shipyard buys it for its old iron, it will probably pass into the possession of some inland trader, and, shorn of its martial character, wind up its career lugging freight about the East Indies.

That is perfectly proper, to be sure. But there is an effect of anti-climax to it, just as there is to the end of almost all warships.

A warship starts life with more of a flourish than an ordinary merchant marine steamer. There is always some dignity, from a secretary of the navy on down to the governor of some state, or his lady, present to preside at its launching; and, once commissioned, it goes into service with an air of pride and power. It never knows the rusty sides or littered decks of the merchant marine; day in and day out it is spick and span, and always it looks as if tomorrow, or the day after, it would steam off to romance and glory.

Its personnel adds to the atmosphere. To the warship come the bright-faced youngsters from Annapolis, the husky chaps from the training stations, competent-looking, eager, handsome in their bright uniforms; and for a time the ship is to these men a thing of great importance, splendid, shining, powerful.

But the navy has no pity for age; and when age descends on a warship the end is abrupt and inglorious. The vessel simply goes to the wreckers and is forgotten. The navy may be the delight of sentimentalists, but it has no sentiment itself—none whatever.

That's why it is dependable.

A Cuban syndicate has announced it will erect huge floating hotels, 1,000 feet long, in the Atlantic ocean 40 miles at sea. Each "hotel" will be managed as a clubhouse, and only open to members.

Some cows, in the northern part of Russia and Siberia, where the snows are heavy and lasting, are equipped with glasses to prevent snow-blindness.

Trails of meteors in the atmosphere high above the earth furnish a means of enabling scientists to tell direction and speed of winds at high altitudes.

A new porcelain on the market cannot be cracked when hit with a hammer or mallet. It only shows a slight dent after a blow.

Solid carbon dioxide, formed in Mexican oil wells, is being shipped to New York for refrigeration.

The difference in level between Lake Superior and Adirondack is about 900 feet.

SO THEY SAY!

Men are eating out of garbage cans here in Kansas City and we must work for relief, not fight over the Mooney case. The Mooney case is California's problem.

I am assured the society of Tammany will follow the banners when the cause of real Democracy is at stake.

—Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the presidency.

There was something fine and gallant and exhilarating in Roosevelt scrapping the old tradition and at once going to meet the Democratic convention.

—Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

The political programs of the Democrats, Republicans and Socialists, no matter how skillfully camouflaged, reflect only minor differences as to how to carry through the American capitalist program. In other words, how to give the wealth and privilege to the few in an unlimited degree.

—Theodore Dreiser, writer.

I will vote the Democratic ticket, as I always have done.

—Mayor James J. Walker of New York.

I have signed the economy bill with but limited satisfaction.

—President Herbert Hoover.

I think we feel a measure of disappointment that great results have not been attained, but I want the country to know that the president has not only had full opportunity to make definite suggestions for further reductions in federal expenditures but that he has been invited to do so by the United States Senate in a resolution unanimously adopted.

—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the Senate.

No group of countries can isolate themselves from the rest of the world.

—The United Kingdom needs the world market for her manufactures.

—Prince George of England.

The communities do not get all the tax money they should have. For instance, only one-quarter of the motor vehicle license fees go back to them in New York.

—State Senator Seabury C. Mastick of New York.

I just haven't got the right kind of training to hold down that job in the White House.

—Owen D. Young, business executive.

RECALLING EIGHTEEN NINETY-THREE

When I was but a little boy
My father and my mother said
"You can't have sugar on your bread.
We'd like to grant you such a joy,
But times are hard, and we must save,
And one and all must now be brave."

Way back in Eighteen Ninety-three,
When I was but a youngster small,
Strange talks of hardships I recall.
My lovely mother seemed to be Forever mending stockings worn
And patching little breeches torn.

I knew my father's eyes seemed sad.
But still we children romped about,
And all the things we did without
No whit disturbed our spirits glad.
We all were given tasks to do
And seemed to thrive upon them, too.

Let's sigh no more! The clouds will pass!
In years to come our children may Think back upon this present day
And look at us through memory's glass.
Then proudly may their pulses stir
As they recall how brave we were!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

ALL PERSIFLAGE ASIDE, WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

There seems to be an interminable humorous side of this question of cri, common respiratory infections, coryza, grip, flu, distemper, acute catarrh, or whatever you prefer to call it. Formerly I endeavored to resign myself to it and to smile wanly at the more or less hackneyed comments everybody feels impelled to make whenever the subject comes up, for I had a kind of grim hope that in good time all the jokes would become so old and worn that even the dumbest would cease repeating them, and then at last maybe we could teach the wisecracks laity something for the benefit of the health of the community. But I am growing despondent. I find the laity has little sense of humor, else some of the annual bulletins of our esteemed health commissioners or public health departments, warning the dumb folk about exposure to inclement weather or wearing insufficient clothing, would appeal to the risibles. So lately I have been devoting all my leisure time to the business of thinking up something bitingly sarcastic to say when the old jokes are sprung. So far not with much success; the worst I can think of seems entirely too mild to suit the requirements.

However, in case anyone out there does get caught up on cold humor, for instance the mother of an actual child or perhaps we should say the actual mother of a child or, if it is not too great a strain on credulity, actually the mother of two separate and consecutive children (we can give no special credit for twins), I have a plain, practical question to ask, and I dare say no one who reads this, be he parent or not, will have the right answer ready to give offhand. Here is the question:

What is the first thing you should do when a child develops the familiar symptoms of cri, grip, flu, distemper, etc.?

No. No. Sorry, but you're wrong. Certainly not. Well, let me give you a hint. I'll tell you that what you should do has a long i in it.

No, I hardly thought you'd hit on the right answer. It would not be natural for you to do so, after all these years of humor you have indulged in or had served in lieu of the knowledge we have of the subject.

I'll give you another hint. The first thing you should do in any such illness or indisposition is more altruistic than for the patient's own welfare, yet it is unquestionably the best thing to do.

Oh, no. Sorry, but you're wrong. That means simply keep the patient not less than five feet removed from other persons, and if any one must approach nearer mask the patient or the vis-a-vis.

The chief mode of infection is via conversational spray, and the range of the mouth spray given off in ordinary conversation is something less than five feet. So in all cases of cri or whatever other name you prefer to give it in the beginning of the indisposition or illness, remember you are reasonably safe if you can contrive to keep more than five feet away from the suspect. We take it for granted the suspect is polite or intelligent enough not to sneeze or cough with mouth and nose uncovered or unmasked.

Carbon Dioxide for Hiccough

Dr. Lewis A. Golden gave us this simple method of relieving severe, prolonged hiccoughs. Place over the nose and mouth an ordinary paper bag such as shopkeepers use, and hold it snugly upon the face with both hands. Breathe into the bag. As the oxygen in the bag is used it is replaced by carbon dioxide. In several minutes of breathing the concentration of carbon dioxide becomes sufficient to relieve the hiccough. If the hiccough returns, put on the bag again.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — Joey, whose last name is plenty Irish, is a helper with a trucking company. Today he is not looking forward to anything else. And his dream of going back to the home folks in Ireland with money in his pocket is forgotten.

Joey played the ponies in a small way, but with high hopes, for ten years. His favorite stunt was to parlay a $2 bet on two or three long shots. He believed in the law of averages, or something. Sure, there would come the time when he'd run his original $2 investment up into the thousands by turning over his winnings—then he'd be off to Ireland.

These $2 investments came out of Joe's wages.

He had a great pal who hung around a tobacco shop in the East Thirties. The pal knew the bookmaker who came around in the afternoon. He accommodated Joey by taking his $2 each day, to be passed along to the bookie. Joey gave explicit directions about the second and third races he wanted to bet on, if his choice in the first came through.

The money he left with his pal this way amounted up as the years passed. Occasionally, when Joey didn't go in for wild parlaying on the longest of the long shots, his friend gave him his winnings from some modest "form" bet. Oh, yes, the accommodating pal would collect from the bookmaker, too. Or, so Joey thought. Joey's winnings were a drop in the bucket compared to his losses.

When the first horse on one of his parlays did come through, invariably the second would run the other way, so the good comrade had nothing to account for. But Joey held the faith that his day of days would come. And sure enough, it did.

The Day Of Days

The first nag paid off at 20 to 1. Forty dollars for Joey. The second crashed through at 10 to 1. Four hundred for Joey, and all on another 20 to 1 shot. He won! That meant $8,000 for Joey on the day, the end of all days of labor—Ireland and home.

Joey rushed to the tobacco shop in unbridled exuberance. He found his unexcited friend and cried out to him, joyfully:

"Haven't you got something for me?"

"Oh, yeah," said the pal, and he handed Joey two crumpled one dollar bills. "I missed the bookie to-day."

Now comes H. Sutherland Davis from Minneapolis and writes the music for a show which he has good reason to believe will be produced in the fall.

Davis wrote the tunes for a Junior League show in St. Paul, and Minnesotans pronounced them good. Later, visiting in New York, he met another visitor, Frank Tours, who advised him to move here and see if he couldn't catch on in music circles.

When he was 12, Davis had ten months of music lessons, which was all the studying he ever did with a teacher. Between compositions, he sells paper on a wholesale scale.

TRANSPORT WHIPS SUBS

On July 8, 1918, a transport ship returning to the United States from France was attacked by eight German submarines in the Bay of Biscay. Outnumbered as the ship was, she succeeded in escaping the subs and in sinking one of them. An accompanying destroyer escort sank another.

French forces, strengthened by American reserves, and heartened by previous successes, staged a strong attack on the edge of the forest of Villers-Cotterets, and broke through the German lines on a front of about two miles.

Australians, too, had a successful day, carrying their line forward along the Somme river for a depth of 600 feet along a front of about a mile and a half.

As Coppy grabbed the fat cub bear he said, "I hope he wrestles fair. He's hard to get a hold of, 'cause his fur is soft and slick."

"He may flop me before we're done, but we are going to have some fun. Perhaps I'll be the winner, though, if I can pull a trick."

Then Dunce said, "Watch out, because I've often heard a small bear claws. Don't make him mad. He'll scratch you and you won't like that at all."

"Just tussle till he gets tired out. Then you can throw him down, no doubt. Don't let him land on top of you, if you begin to fall."

The funny bear just pranced around and every now and then he'd bound away from little Coppy. Then he'd jump right back again.

"Hey! We are wrestling!" Coppy said. "You seem to want to dance, instead. To keep you right up near me, we should wrestle in a pen."

All of a sudden Mister Bear gave Coppy quite a scare. He grabbed the lad around the waist and squeezed him rather tight.

"Course Coppy grunted right out loud and this amused the Tynmites all. "Keep up the good work, Coppy," Scouty shouted. "You're all right."

But Coppy was a real tired lad. The bear lopped him and he seemed glad that everything was over. "Run away," he told the bear.

As Bruin scampered out of sight, the bunch heard Windy Tynmite cry out, "Look at that auto that is coming, over there."

The auto was all broken down and in it sat a funny clown. Said he, "Come on you Tynmites, we'll have a bumpy ride."

"This auto is a crazy one, but in it I have lots of fun." The Tynmites all laughed and then jumped right in by his side.

British Naval Plan Assailed By Americans

Smaller Ships Would Help England and Hurt Cause of U. S., Claim

Geneva, Switzerland.—(AP)—American naval experts united today in criticizing a move for a new five-power naval parity launched from British sources yesterday.

The British plan was broached shortly after a set of counterproposals to the Hoover disarmament plan was announced in the house of commons at London. It was contained in a press interview given anonymously by a high British authority.

The United States, Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy would be expected to join in the parity.

The British program, one of the American critics said, was merely a renewal of a 10-year-old controversy in which the British had "sought by reducing the size of our ships to keep our navy in home waters."

"The British have naval bases all over the world," he explained, "and do not want large ships, but the United States, lacking these bases, is required to maintain large ships with a wide cruising radius."

The sponsor of the parity said the naval questions were very complex and required extensive discussions. "President Hoover," he said, "will be the first to agree that naval reduction cannot be accomplished by the mere mention of a vulgar fraction." This reference was to the president's proposal for a one-third reduction of world armaments.

On the question of the necessity for substantial reductions the London and Washington governments are agreed, he said, but he emphasized that because of heavy British responsibilities over the world it was difficult for Great Britain to make numerical reductions.

In the general commission of the disarmament conference, however, sentiment was accumulating among the smaller nations for the Hoover plan. Among those who praised it were the representatives of Belgium, Brazil, Turkey, Cuba, Austria, Norway, the Dominican Republic, Finland and Canada.

Chart Outlines Proper Food for Family Needs

Town, city and village clerks have been supplied, by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse with copies of food charts on which is listed the articles that can be purchased most economically while at the same time all family needs, especially those of children, are fulfilled. These charts were prepared, Miss Klein points out, at the instruction of the county health committee. The committee felt that the charts would be of assistance to clerks, on whose shoulders falls the responsibility of supplying food for many families who are being cared for by towns, cities or villages. The charts were prepared, Miss Klein said, with special consideration of the fact that growing children need proper nourishment to avoid ill effects within the next few years. More copies of the chart are available for those desiring them, Miss Klein said.

Frats Want Freshmen to Help Fill Vacant Rooms

Madison.—(AP)—Fearing a decrease in enrollment next fall, a dozen fraternities on the University of Wisconsin campus have petitioned the board of regents to permit them to fill vacant rooms in their houses with freshman students. Present regulations forbid the residence of freshmen in fraternities until they have successfully completed one semester of school.

20 Scholarships In Agriculture College Available

Will Go to Candidates Writing Best Paper On Agriculture

Twenty scholarships valued at $75 each in the short course of the college of agriculture for fifteen weeks, have been made available to Wisconsin rural residents by the University of Wisconsin regents. It has been announced. The course begins Nov. 1, 1932, and closes on March 11, 1933.

The purpose of the scholarships is to aid in training worthy young men for positions of responsibility in agriculture and for rural leadership in their home and other communities. It is hoped the scholarships will encourage farm boys to train themselves for future service in agriculture. The scholarships delay only part of the expense connected with the course.

Young men desiring to compete for scholarships should write on paper in their own hand writing, a story on "Agriculture and My Future." Points to be discussed are: "What I have done in the field of agriculture; Why I wish to make my future in agriculture; Reason the Scholarship is desired and What I see ahead in agriculture."

Want Recommendations
The story is to be sent to V. E. Kivlin, director of the short course, Madison, with a photograph or snapshot of the applicant. They must reach Madison on or before Oct. 15, 1932. Four persons then should send recommendations of the applicant to Mr. Kivlin. The county agent, pastor, a former teacher, business man, banker or neighbor is suggested. The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of 75 per cent for the story and 25 per cent for the personal data and reference reports.

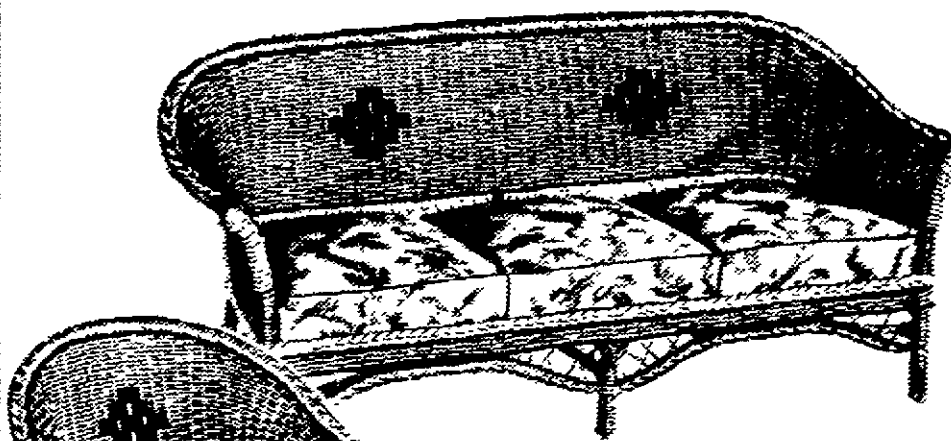

The army barracks south of the stock pavilion formerly used by the Forest Products Laboratory has been converted into a short course dormitory and by establishing a short course dining room, the cost of the training has been reduced to less than $100.

Dormitories on the two floors of the building with study rooms for each group of three or four students and an assembly hall for discussion, recreational, and social purposes, are being planned. Places in the dormitory will be available to those who first file applications.

Fair tonight and probably Saturday; little change in temperature.

General Weather
The "low" which was centered over northern Lake Superior yesterday morning has moved eastward and now overlies the lower St. Lawrence valley. It is followed by light to moderate showers over most of the lake region, St. Lawrence valley and the New England states. Generally fair weather prevails this morning over almost the entire country. Temperature changes have been unimportant except that it is slightly cooler over most of the northeastern states. Continued fair weather is expected in this section tonight and probably Saturday with little change in temperature.

Summer Loving Nothing to Get Excited About

Things are Not Always
What They Seem, Especially in Dog Days

BY DOROTHY DIX
Here are some tips for the Summer Girl:

DON'T do the things in July that you will bitterly regret in December. The summer whoopee is short, but the winter of regret is long and hard and cold.

DON'T snub the rocking-chair brigade on the summer hotel galleries and think it fun to shock it. If it turns thumbs down on you all the perfume in Araby couldn't sweeten your reputation. Besides, it rules society at home and sends out the invitations to balls and parties and has eligible sons who listen a lot more than you think to what Mother says about.

DON'T pose as a millionairess and talk about your Rolls Royce and how sorry you are that you left your matched pearls in Papa's safe instead of bringing them along and pretend that the reason you came to Mountain Cliff or Seabreeze Villa is because you are so tired of dragging over to Europe and going to Newport and so worn out by the social season that you wanted to go to a quiet spot where you could rest and wouldn't have to bother to dress.

The poser fools nobody but herself and she makes of herself a figure of fun for the ribald to jeer at, whereas everybody is willing to give a helping hand to the simple girl who thinks everything perfectly grand and wonderful and who is having the time of her life.

DON'T let the snapshot friends take your picture in petting scenes with strange men. The photograph that is so amusing now won't seem so funny when you show it to the boy friend next fall and try to explain just how it happened.

DON'T tell your secrets to some man or woman you haven't known a week just because you are sitting out in the moonlight and feel confidential and have a good pair of ears handy to pour things into. If you have a bone or two hidden away in your skeleton closet or some chap has put a dent into your heart that has never healed or there is some blot on your family escutcheon or you feel that you are not understood at home and your tongue begins to itch to tell it to a sympathetic listener, don't do it. Get up pronto and beat it into the bright lights where you would have to shout a confession at the top of your lungs to make it heard above the jazz band.

DON'T forget that parked automobiles and drunken drivers are just as dangerous in summer as they are in winter. So shall you keep out of the headlines on the front pages of newspapers and the casualty wards in hospitals.

DON'T forget that in summer things are seldom what they seem and that not every man who has on a yachting cap owns even a row-boat. Nor is every man the Fairy Prince you are out looking for because he has on what the well-dressed man is wearing this season and has a keen line. He may talk largely of his big deals on Wall Street and his hunting preserves and how much he won at Deuville last summer, but likely as not the next time you hear his dulcet voice he will be saying, "Walk this way, ladies," in a department store.

DON'T take summer love-making seriously. Talking sentiment is just as much a silly summer diversion as is swimming or clam bakes or hiking. Romance goes with a dark corner on a vine-hung veranda or moonlight on the water of a summer night just as whipped cream does on the top of a huckleberry pie, but neither one has a permanent place on the daily menu. They are de luxe summer dishes and you should enjoy them and forget them. So because a man tells you are the ideal that he has been looking for all of his life and that he never loved before and could never love again, don't delude yourself into the belief that you are engaged to him. It is just a passing kiss that means nothing.

DON'T feel that you are called on to comfort summer widowers while their wives are away. It is a dangerous pastime, and the fun you get out of it is not worth the risk you take. Of course your boss may be awfully lonesome without his wife and children and the thought of the good dinner and the smart roadhouse out in the country will take you to may be thinking, but gossip is sure to tell the wife all about it with embellishments and by the time the husband has made his peace with her when she gets back, you are pretty sure to be out of a good job and a private secretary installed in your place who is too old even to hobble out with him.

DON'T forget there is no open season for husband-snatching. It isn't sporting any time of the year for a pretty young girl to take a middle-aged man away from his

Oil Treatments Will Keep Nails From Breaking

BY ALICIA HART

There is beauty in your hand if you will just cultivate it.

Nobody has to have rough skin, and nails that dread the time when gloves must be removed. A few minutes care will prove that you have beauty at your finger tips if you will just reach out and take it.

First of all, don't let your fingers grow rough. If you do they will catch on threads and everything that isn't as smooth as glass. Oil them.

An oil manicure isn't a luxury if you want your hands to be attractive. It is well worth the little effort that it requires. Heat some oil until it is warm enough to make the muscles of your fingers relax. Then dip your hands in it. Keep them there until you feel the oil going in, smoothing out the tense places, breaking down the resistance of the nerves that have grown too tight. Dry one hand and massage the other hand with it. Pretend that you are removing a glove. Take it off, one finger at a time, pulling each finger as you come to it. Stretch your fingers with the fingers of your other hand until they are limp and limber. Then repeat this treatment on your other hand.

Now your hands are ready for your manicure. The cuticle is softened and can be pushed back and removed much more easily.

As a rule the nails are filed to the desired shape before the oil treatment is given.

When it comes to polish you have all sorts of choices. If your nails are beautifully shaped and your fingers are the sort that form an attractive setting for them, you needn't be afraid of the brilliant, deepening rose tints. But if you don't believe that your hands are one of your best features, it is wiser to use a lighter polish which has a more natural tone.

It isn't wise to call attention to your hands in a startling fashion. They should be recognized and appreciated as part of you, not as some adornment feature that you want to emphasize.

Oil treatments will keep your nails from growing brittle. They won't break off or crack or develop ridges if they are properly nourished.

You will be surprised at the number of beauty tricks your hand will take if you lubricate it with a little oil.

Velvet Used for Many Purposes by Paris Dressmakers

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright 1932 By Cons. Press New York — (CPA) — If they aren't wearing a velvet hat or a velvet jacket in Paris just now, they're wearing some bit of velvet trimming. For example, a transparent black chiffon ensemble with a three-quarters coat of the same material, has a green velvet belt which shows beneath the coat.

More Jewelry

Some more of the unusual jewelry which is pleasing London at the moment are the items made of wire. Of platinum wire, twisted into odd designs such as medallions or things reminiscent of bead strings and machinery. Gold wire is used, too. These things are worn with high necked suits and dresses.

Tea Rose

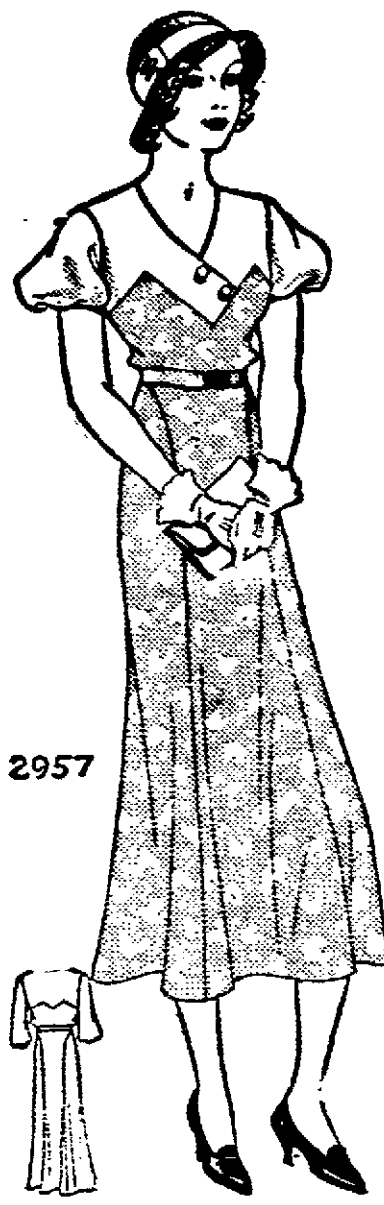

Among the new lingerie shades is the delicious tea rose, pleasantly pink but cool looking. It is used in the summer underwear especially designed in lightness and sheerness of material, for hottest weather. Considering of little or nothing, but very firm in texture, the new models are neatly tailored.

Middle-aged wife and break up a home.

DON'T pack your morals and your discretion away in moth balls with your furs and leave them in cold storage at home. You will need them just as much in the dog days as you will at Christmas. Perhaps more so, for there is something in the good old summer time that melts down our morale as it does our collars.

Paste these few rules in your vanity case where you will see them often and it will save you trouble and regret.

Growth of Child Needs To be Slow

BY ANGELO PATRI

We are in too much of a hurry.

The growth of children is a slow steady day by day affair, one step at a time. Mothers are likely to forget this and begin fretting about the slow response to their teaching. Wait. Today a little, tomorrow a little, day after day, and one day the result stands out completely.

"How do you teach a baby to feed himself? I've been struggling with my little girl now for a month with very little results. She spills her cereal all over her front, just the same as she did in the beginning."

Not quite the same. She takes hold of the spoon. Once in a while she finds her mouth without a mistake. Just put a bib on her and let her worry along, cheering every once in a while for her progress. Don't let a child get tired. A baby has to work hard to clutch and direct a spoon. A few efforts and he is worn out. He begins to cry and you stop trying. If you force him there is scene and that scene sets the stage for the next one. That means a feeding problem.

Begin slowly. Give the baby the first spoonful. Hand him the spoon and let him try a couple of mouthfuls. When the little hand begins to drop below the chin and the cereal streams down his neck, wipe him off gently and cheerfully, feed him the rest of his meal. Help him. Don't expect him to eat a whole bowl by himself at the start. Gradually. Give him occasional sips of water, milk, gruel from a spoon. Do this before he has reached a conscious liking for his bottle and refuses any other form of feeding. Begin when he begins to hold his head up and go steadily, slowly, persistently from there. By the time he is two he will feed himself rather well. If you wait until he is two before you start to take away his bottle you will have trouble and plenty of it. He has formed a fondness for that bottle. It is a symbol of comfort, companionship, love, to him. If you had trained him to get that feeling from several other forms of feeding, accustomed him to change, he would give you no trouble at all. But you have to spread this training over a considerable period. Know what you are doing and why and go steadily, slowly forward step by step. This mistake most of us make is in waiting too long. We keep the child an infant for a long period than necessary and then we want to change overnight. That isn't done with success.

Children do not grow up overnight. They have no sudden turns. The thing that seems to happen suddenly has been in preparation for many days and months. His growth is gradual and it is based on sound causes, good or bad, according to the conditions. We have to be on guard to make certain as possible that the step by step preparation that is going on has a good end in its cause.

This applies to all training, mental and physical. Sudden spurts, sharp right-about-face results, are foreign to child growth. They are not sound and they will not succeed. Step by step is the rule. Look ahead, plan, work gently and patiently and wait. There is no other way.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply.

READY FOR BLOWOUT

El Paso, Tex. — Nicolas Nevarez was planning a big party when he got back to the United States. He filled two spare tires of his car with 47 pint bottles of liquor. Only the keen eyes of Luis de la Rosa, Juarez customs officer, prevented the whisky reaching the United States. He noticed the suspicious bulge in Nicolas' tires as the car started across a border bridge.

THE STORY OF SUE By Margery Hale

A PLOT FOR LOVE

GRACE opened her eyes and they were curiously gray instead of green now, as Sue told of the call that she had received from Natalie Webber.

"You know that I've been living at the hotel and that I'm back on my old job, of course," Grace said to Sue, instead of commenting on the proposed dinner party.

"I thought that maybe," it does in case the persons involved cared when the absence began. When they didn't you might as well stay where you are. Proximity and absence both fall flatter than cold pancakes when nobody cared in the first place. You want me to win Jimmy back again?"

"Of course. You still love him. You are deadening your senses so you will think that you don't. Some morning you will wake up and find that he matters as much as he ever did."

Grace's eyes were old and wise as she answered. "I'm not afraid. Sue. I've taken off my rose glasses. He isn't exactly what I imagined. You see, I loved his possibilities and they took a different turn."

"It's all that woman," Sue began. "She's done it. I hate her. Jimmy is nice. He's too nice for her."

"Maybe. I don't know. But he wants her. . . . But what about the party?"

"We are going to have it and you are going to get somebody and new and handsome enough and possessed of enough personality plus to put Jimmy back in the primer class. And you are going to get some new clothes. The things that you are wearing are smart and snappy, I'll admit, but they aren't glamorous. They don't make me think of moonlight and lilacs in the rain and other wise, feminine things. You have to dress as though you want to be rushed in somebody's arms and kissed until you can't breathe."

"Sue!" Grace was laughing softly, though, and the green had come back to her eyes.

"I know what you are thinking," Sue answered, and the dimples flashed in her cheeks. "You are remembering the days when you used to tell me what men liked and wanted, and you're amused because I'm repeating your own sermons. But you need it, Grace. You can't look flip-pant and act as if you don't care, and get Jimmy back. You have to look as though you need him."

"I don't want Jimmy back again."

"All right, but you want him to want to come back. Don't you? That's worth the effort, anyway."

Grace sat up suddenly. Color flooded the white cheeks. "All right, Sue, I'll play the game. I'll give the Webber woman a run for my husband. I'll show Jimmy a trick or two that he doesn't know. I'll then her voice collapsed. "But if I have to stoop to such cheap tactics to hold him, I don't think I want him. He isn't worth the effort. You see, I always thought love was something safe and secure and beautiful. I still think it is. Jimmy just never loved me, that's all. When a man turns away from a woman it isn't because another woman has come along. It's because the first one wasn't the right one. It doesn't matter that it was Mrs. Webber. . . . He couldn't have cared for me much anyway. . . . But I'll play the game and show them. . . . After all, I'm his wife."

"Whom shall we ask to come to the dinner?" Sue asked. "Think it's too dangerous to risk Nancy and Arnold Page at the same affair?" Then she remembered that Jack might not want Page present.

My Neighbor Says—

Cut watermelon rind in half-inch cubes instead of dicing when pickling. It is much easier to serve in this form.

Before using ordinary flour in making a cake, remove from each cup of sifted flour two tablespoons of flour and replace with two tablespoons cornstarch then mix twice. This flour makes a very fine grained cake.

Wash the zinc tray in your car sove then cover with vinegar. It stand a few minutes, rinse well and dry. All spots will disappear after a few washings.

Scoring Extra Tricks is Aid in Tournament Play

BY ELY CULBERTSON

In playing Rubber Bridge, tricks made above the contract are more or less immaterial. They figure, of course, in the honor score, and may add two to the total when the number is finally added up. In tournament play, however, and particularly in games scored under the Howell match point system of scoring, the extra trick available through the accurate play often spells the difference between a champion and just one of the "common herd."

An illustration of this occurred in the hand given below, which was played recently in an important eastern tournament. In its play, one South was able to secure a top score on the hand through an ap-

In Your Garden

Irises can be livid and deplanted at any time after the flowers have passed, although it may be well to wait two or three weeks. It is best to divide them pretty hard and to cut them back to six or eight inches. They should be planted just under the surface, with six or eight inches between the stems, although it is wise to cut back the leaves of plants that are being moved, this practice should not be appointed to established plants, because it tends to weaken their growth. What has been said applies to the bearded or so-called German iris. The other kinds should not be transplanted until several weeks later. No manure should be used with irises, but the mixing of a little commercial fertilizer in the soil around them is beneficial.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"

If July 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:10 a. m. to 10:45 a. m. and 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.

There will be a right about face change in astrological influence on July 9th and yesterday's serious, heavy mood, will be replaced by a true holiday spirit. Do not attempt to rush through quick sales, or be foolish enough to sign any documents without thorough and careful perusal of their contents with an eye to possible "catches."

The child born on this July 9th will be shy and absent-minded. It will inherit from some near or remote ancestor, a lurking obstinacy, which will creep out at unexpected times. Its teachers will find it dreamy and inattentive, but far from dull or stupid. If it tried, it would never need be at the bottom of its class.

You have an expansive, agreeable and cheerful nature. You are fond of adventure, full of life, and are never the kill joy of any social gathering. You are usually ready for any fun—clean and harmless—in which you have been invited to join.

Your unpunctuality and innate untidiness distress many of your associates, but it is useless to expect you to reform. You are always losing or misplacing things—especially so if a woman—and seem to have little appreciation of the value of things. "Why worry?" is very much your attitude toward life, and you let others lose their sleep for you. This attitude may not always be a fair one, but it certainly helps you to keep your youth. Children do not find you on a "grown-up" inaccessible plane, and you often play the Pied-Piper of Hamelin's role.

You are overripe in some ways, and callow in others; extremely clever at some things and almost stupid in other directions. You are not given to happy mediums, and live in a universe of superlatives. You are excitable and exaggerated in your emotions, although you could not be called a very deep feeler. In most of your problems, instinct is your guide. A considerable amount of happiness is pictured within your home.

Successful People Born on July 9th:

1. Harold Richard Attlee, play-wright.
2. James M. Beck, lawyer.
3. John C. Calhoun, financier.
4. Franz Boas, professor of Columbia.
5. John D. Rockefeller, capitalist.
6. Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of interior under Taft.

look and feel cool and refreshing. Hats can be simple, crushable affairs, with a brim if you wish and a colorful band. Don't wear tight clothes—have them comfortable so that you can move about freely. If you've seen the recent Bobby Jones releases, it all looks very simple as he does it. Well, you may discover that things are not what they seem. But it is fun to persevere and see your shots improve, to practice until you get strength enough for long drives, to be important and good enough for your husband to say to a colleague, rather proudly, "Let's go out to the club this afternoon. My wife is there, probably just finishing a round, and that lovely little lady is good. I'll tell you."

Even if you can't do the course in par, or haven't any birds to your credit, what of it? The sport in itself is fun and the exercise it affords is grand for arms, shoulders and waistline.

Golf Should be in Summer Sport List

By Elsie Pierce

GOLF is another grand exercise that should be included in our series of summer sports. While not limited to summer alone, this season with its lightweight clothes, its sunshine and vacations, offers several inducements to the lovers of outdoor sports.

In spite of all the quips aimed at middle-aged men who are slaves to the sport, if some of our clever business women realized the benefit of taking an afternoon off occasionally, away from the grind of business details and routine, things would clear up a bit. Brain cells would become more active, spirits would mount bulges would melt.

Men Clever Worry Dodgers

Men are clever worry dodgers, and all the more successful for it. I think. When they get bored or surfeited with business worries, they run away from it. They have their winter vacations, fishing and hunting trips, outdoor activities. Yes, they run away, and when they come back ambitions are renewed, ideas and plans and enthusiasm too and youth and pep. Perhaps that's why they say men stay young longer than women.

Folk golf simple summer sport clothes are appropriate and lovely. Light, pastel colors will make you

GOOD TASTE TODAY By Emily Post

Honest Questions

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother is giving a reception (informal) in the near future for my brother, who is to be ordained a priest. We have a large family and are rather uncertain as to what each of us should do. Some will be at the door and others in the dining room. Two other young priests who will be ordained at the same time as my brother will also be with us for the occasion. Should they be placed in the receiving line? Also, will food, punch, wafers and mints be sufficient refreshments?

Answer: Conventionally your mother and brother would receive, or your father too, if he chooses—or he would make himself generally useful as host. If the two young priests who are being ordained also receive, this would mean that the reception is equally for them. If this is the impression you would like to give, then it is quite proper that they stand next to your brother. Otherwise, different members of the family would introduce the guests to the other two priests. One person opens the door; the other members of the family make themselves agreeable to the guests as they arrive.

If the day is very hot, iced punch should be sufficient, but if the day is cold I would suggest that you add either hot tea or coffee. In any event you should provide something eatable rather than merely tasteful. In your place I should add thin sandwiches and eliminate the peppermints.

My Dear Mrs. Post: I stopped in to see Mrs. Brown who is an old friend of mine and took a young man with me. I introduced him to Mrs. Brown. We talked for awhile and then Mr. Brown came in. Should I have introduced the young man to Mr. Brown or should Mrs. Brown have done this?

Answer: There is no rule. But you should have been ready to make the introduction in case Mrs. Brown may have forgotten (or not have heard) the young man's name. In other words, if Mrs. Brown seemed to hesitate, you should have said, "Mr. Jones, Mr. Brown."

Display Plans For Church On Division-st

Meeting of St. Margaret Mary Congregation is Called by Pastor

Neenah — Plans for the new church to be erected by the St. Margaret Mary congregation were displayed Thursday evening to more than 80 members at a meeting at St. Patrick school hall. According to the plans submitted, which might undergo some minor changes, the building will have about a 165 foot frontage on Division-st. directly across from the new high school. It will be of cut stone, colored brick with colored slate roof and will house the church school of eight grades, a community room or auditorium, an eight-room home for the priest, and quarters for the sisters, all under one roof.

The church proper will occupy the center part of the first floor, the school rooms to be located directly above the second floor. The auditorium will be located on the east end of the first floor of the building above which will be some of the class rooms. The priest's apartments will occupy both first and second floors of the west end of the structure while the sisters' apartments will be located under the roof or attic part of the building. The estimated cost will be about $75,000, a large part of which has been raised.

The building will be so arranged that at some time in the future, should demands require larger schooling facilities, the church part will be turned into class rooms and a new church addition constructed. Later it is provided, a gymnasium will be constructed independent of the main building.

The meeting was in charge of the Rev. Joseph Vanbogat.

help from the Italian salvage vessel Artiglio II which left Brest for Cherbourg immediately.

One of the seven men who were saved told a story this morning which, if it was accurate, indicated some of the men in the ship might have been drowned very quickly.

This man was on deck when the Promethee sank. There were hissing noise which brought the captain up from below in a hurry, he said.

"Four doors were kicked shut," said the sailor, "but there was another open to the officers' compartment. I saw one of the men trying to close it but it jammed. Then the ship went out from under our feet and we were swept into the water. It looked to me as though the sea would go through that door with nothing to stop it."

The maritime prefecture early this morning sent a radio message to the captain of the Italian salvage ship d'Ataglia, sister ship of the Artiglio II which recently raised $3,000,000 in gold from the hold of the sunken steamer Egypt, asking if it came possible to search for the Promethee and its men.

Near Channel Flood

The necessity for pinning hopes for a rescue on deep sea diving gear was all the more apparent today when it was discovered that the hull of the Promethee lies in nearer 180 than 150 feet of the stormy channel flood.

In the meantime the navy concentrated on the search the complete power of its own resources. Three tugs, two submarines and two seaplanes took up the quest over the spot where the Promethee went down suddenly yesterday during tests which were being made to correct irregularities in its mechanism.

With Admiral Malavoy, chief of the searching crew, was Lieut. Couesquel du Mesnil, commander of the ill-fated submarine, who was saved, with six others, when the ship went down yesterday, by being hurled into the sea.

Throughout the night searches for the hull were hampered by the fact that the buoy, to which Lieutenant du Mesnil and his colleagues had clung until they were rescued by a fishing craft, had sunk, but it was hoped with calmer seas this would again be visible.

The Italian ship d'Ataglia was at Guernsey, only a short distance away. Officials of the maritime prefecture said they were still unable to form any definite opinion as to the cause of the sudden sinking of the submarine. They said they knew nothing of reports it was sunk by an explosion, but a trawler which crossed the spot reported a large spot of oil over the place soon after the ship went down.

Elinor Glyn Wins Over Father Time

Author of "It" Still Beautiful Although Grandmother of 5 Children

Budapest — (P) — Elinor Glyn has discovered the fountain of youth. As prof that Ponce de Leon took the wrong path she points to her lack of wrinkles, to the still flaming coils of her red hair, and to the fact that she is the grandmother of five children.

The woman who gave "It" a new significance, credits only half of her present good health to the mud baths which she takes here. She says the other half of the battle against Father Time must be won in the mind.

"What does it matter," she asks, "how long a woman has lived on this earth if her mind has not grown dull?"

Mrs. Glyn chooses Hungary for the setting of one of her novels, and Hungarian aristocrats, noted for their charm and hospitality, have made a heroine of her.

Yet what she declares to have been two of the most thrilling moments of her life came on a recent visit to Elizabethtown, a workman's suburb of Budapest.

She attended a religious drama presented by a cast 80 per cent of whom were unemployed, to raise funds for a new church. As a prodigious four trumpeters headed a lovely young girl, in national costume, who welcomed Mrs. Glyn with a speech in French. The guest replied that never had any experience brought such a lump to her throat.

After the play, as she passed between lines of boy scouts, one of them unpinned from his hat a plume of feathery grass and handed it to her.

The gesture and the manner of its execution, she declared, were worthy of any of her heroes.

INSPECTOR TO RETURN

spot where the skipper, by climbing aloft, saw seven heads bobbing in the sea.

There was a belief that others of the crew were on deck at the time, too, but were dragged down by the suction caused by the sinking hull. The seven survivors were in the water an hour before they were dragged out.

The disaster was the first to a French submarine since 1928 when the Ondine went down off Portugal after a collision with a Greek steamer. Forty-three perished in that accident.

Leaky oil tanks and possibly poor functioning of the submarine's exhaustors or a maldroit maneuver by one of the civilians aboard were given unofficially as probable causes of the submarine's sudden dive.

The seven survivors said the ship was seaworthy, that they were proud of her and had no qualms about sailing in her.

While Lieutenant du Mesnil was busy with other officials directing the rescue work the five enlisted men who were saved were resting in the Marine hospital. They were told to take it easy.

READY TO HELP

Premier Herriot and President Lebrun sent their sympathies to the minister of marine this morning.

Buchert Placed On Probation to Board of Control

Found Guilty of Assault And Battery for Part In Demonstration

Menasha — After deliberating about 30 minutes, a municipal court jury at Oshkosh found Edward Buchert, Appleton, guilty of a charge of assault and battery Thursday afternoon. Following the verdict, Judge S. L. Spengler ordered the defendant to pay the court costs and placed him on probation to the state board of control.

Buchert and Harold Hammer, also of Appleton, were arrested by Winnebago-co sheriff department officers as the result of a labor disturbance at the International Wire-works plant here recently. Hammer's trial has been adjourned until July 14.

At the opening of the trial Thursday morning, Judge Spengler denied defense objections to the jurisdiction of the court on a contention that the original arrest was not legal and further that an adjournment of 10 days was ordered without the consent of the defendant, and ordered the trial to proceed.

Three Eggs, Charge

According to the state, the two men were among persons throwing eggs at employees of the wireworks plant which continued to function with non-union labor after the union declared a strike.

Buchert was alleged to have struck William Lemke, Appleton, a bookkeeper at the plant with an egg, and Lemke, on the stand before the jury Thursday, testified that Buchert threw the egg at him though he said he did not see him with an egg in his possession and actually saw only the raising of the arm in throwing position. Motorcycle officers Irving Stilt, J. G. Holtz, and Harold Nielson, asserted that Buchert, in their presence, admitted having thrown the egg.

In the defense objection to the arrest, it was maintained that Officer Stilt did not actually see the alleged throwing of the egg and that therefore he could not make an arrest without a warrant. Judge Spengler held, however, that it was not the common place case of assault and battery and that it appeared at least some offense in which a large crowd of persons took part, occurred in the presence of Stilt, and that even though the officer did not testify he saw the particular alleged act involving Buchert, the arrest was proper.

Political War Delays Action At Washington

Congress Apparently Cannot Put Patriotism
Above Partisanship

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—A political tug-of-war between the Republican and Democratic parties and their candidates is blocking the adjournment of congress and the enactment of legislation for the relief of the worst economic crisis in American history.

Despite protestations of cooperation and patriotism early in the present session, the controversy today has degenerated into a political row in which each side is seeking advantage. The difficulties of getting legislation in the public interest in the middle of a presidential campaign were never more strikingly illustrated than today. Each side is trying to put the other in a political hole. The Republicans are preparing to tell the country that they were not for the Democrats the federal government might have been able to proceed more rapidly with relief plans. The Democrats are already arguing that the Republicans don't want of help relieve the masses but the classes.

And while the debate goes on the world waits nervously for America to steady herself. The credit machinery of the country waits too for a new stimulus to come out of the one and a half billions of new credit to be made available through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Two Viewpoints
Two opposing theories are responsible outwardly for the deadlock. One is that the government should make individual loans to anybody with good collateral and thus stimulate the banks to do likewise. The other is that loans should be made to business large and small which can promise some method of early repayment. Both seek to make working capital available to the American people but the Hoover plan seeks to bring about individual relief.

A compromise would easily be possible if the government were not a presidential campaign. Also it may be taken for granted that no matter which policy is set in motion the government is not likely to expend any large part of its funds in this activity between now and the next session of congress in December and that the finance corporation can set up plenty of regulations to safeguard the government's money no matter which plan is adopted. For when the decision is vested in the finance corporation to determine what is and what is not good collateral the whole power to veto loans to anybody goes into practical effect.

Policy in Question

One of the criticisms of the Reconstruction Finance corporation heard here and there outside of Washington is that the corporation is tighter than the banks in extending credit and that worthy loans have been turned down not because of inadequate collateral but for reasons of policy having to do with the desire of the corporation to use its funds in some other way. The usual comment made is that the corporation wishes to use its funds only to relieve those companies in acute distress and not those in healthy condition requiring working capital or commercial loans for longer periods than the banks are willing as a rule to grant.

The veto of the pending bill

Tuberculosis One of Leading Death Causes

Madison—(AP)—Tuberculosis and accidents were the leading causes of death among Wisconsin residents between 30 and 34 years of age during 1931, the state board of health said today. A total of 779 persons of these ages died during the year.

Small decreases were reported by the board in both tuberculosis and accident fatalities for 1931 as compared with 1930, the former accounting for 147 deaths and the latter causing 105.

Other leading death causes in this age group and their tolls for 1931 were cited by the board as follows: Pneumonia, 57 deaths; heart disease, 52; suicide, 51; puerperal causes, 46; cancer, 38; appendicitis, 26; nephritis, 26; and influenza, 18. The group including persons between the ages of 30 and 34 years was the youngest of the age groups classified by the board to show an increase in the total number of deaths in a comparison of the years 1931 and 1930.

Curious remedies, such as cin-der tea, made by dipping a red-hot cin-der in hot water, as a cure for stomach ache, are still used as children's remedies in some English villages.

would mean an insistence on a new bill before adjournment or a call for an extra session if congress should adjourn without acting on the relief measures. Now that the two national conventions are out of the way there is no urgent need for adjournment in the eyes of many of the leaders. In fact the Republicans are somewhat anxious to propose some of the things contained in the Democratic platform so as to see how the rank and file of congress will stand up to that platform. This is what is actuating the drive for the beer bill, the northern Republicans who are wet believing that the southern Democrats will block action and make it possible for the wets of the north to con-tem-der that only through the Republicans can wet programs be put through congress. The Democratic dries are alert to these tactics and will not hesitate to line up enough Republican dries to offset these charges.

Meanwhile the political warfare goes on while the nation waits for statesmanship above party.

of the American Paper and Pulp association from members and cooperating organizations, the Daily Average of total paper production in April decreased 6.6 per cent under March and 16.1 per cent under April 1931. The Daily Average wood pulp production in April was 3 per cent below March 1932, and 16.9 per cent below April 1931.

Compared with April a year ago, the Daily Average production registered a decrease in the following grades: Newsprint, uncoated book, paperboard, wrapping, bag, tissue, pers. Compared with March 1932, the following percentage decreases were registered in the Daily Av-

South America May Campaign Against Reds

Joint Action Possible in Effort to Suppress Communist Forces

Buenos Aires — (UP) — A possibility of joint action by South American governments to suppress the rising force of Communism on the continent was indicated here today.

The ambassador from Peru, where a Communist outbreak occurred yesterday with loss of several lives, was reported today to have approached the Argentine foreign office with a suggestion for united action and it was presumed Peruvian ambassadors in other South American capitals had taken similar steps.

Marshall law was proclaimed in Peru yesterday by President Luis
M. Sanchez Cerro, whose government attributed the outbreak to members of the opposition Apra party as well as Communists. A pitched battle was fought between the rebels and troops of the First artillery, aided by police.

tacked a civil guard station at Puerto Chicama and one policeman was killed. Two policemen were killed in another battle at Tayari.

Although the overtures for united action, which would include also action against the distribution of Communist propaganda, were still in the diplomatic stage and without official verification, it was understood the Argentine government favored the proposal in principle. It expressed a preference, however, for individual initiative based on the South American convention.

An outbreak at Concepcion,
Chile, also was reported yesterday.
Details were lacking beyond reports that soldiers, sailors and unemployed men began to riot there and at the nearby naval base at Talcahuano yesterday morning.

"Yarn Swappers" Tell Of Paul Bunyan's Feats
Madison — (UP) — It was Tuesday evening story hour on the Memorial Union terrace of the University of Wisconsin campus, summer school students and faculty members were in attendance and J. A.
MacDonald was speaking.

"Paul Bunyan was so large that when he coughed roof shingles had to be nailed down with six inch spikes," Mr. MacDonald said in introducing the fictional lumberjack character who was the subject of the evening's "yarn swapping."

Among the tales which followed in rapid succession was that relation how Paul's supply of beans had fallen into a lake and of how the ingenious Bunyan burned the forests around the lake, supplying his larder with bean soup during the winter.

Then came the yarn telling of the child who fell into the huge tracks of Paul Bunyan's ox and did not get out until it was 37 years old.

"You say the baby was 57 years old?" one of the listeners asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. MacDonald, and I have it from a second cousin of a man who once worked for Paul Bunyan himself."

"Well, that really is very interesting, because, you see, I'm that baby," was the retort.

Manawa Phone Company Told To Cut Rates

Farmers Win Partial Victory as Commission Issues Order

Special to Post-Crescent

Manawa—Farmers won a partial victory in their fight to reduce telephone rates here when the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin ordered the Manawa Telephone company to make an "emergency reduction" for one year from July 1, 1932, to July 1, 1933. Not only are rural phone rates affected by this order, but business and local residence phone rates are decreased, as well.

Rural rates are reduced from $1.50 to $1.25 per month, local residence from $1.50 to $1.25 on a four-party line, and local business phones, single line, from $2.25 to $2.00. The farmers had asked a reduction from $1.50 to $1.00 per month in their petition, and no mention had been made of business or residence rates.

A hearing was held before a representative of the Public Service Commission in Manawa on April 12, 1932, at which time considerable testimony was taken, so much that it required the commission ten weeks to reach a decision. The meeting here was attended by thirty-three rural subscribers headed by William H. Feathers, most of whom were among the 229 signers of a petition asking that telephone rates be reduced.

The order of the commission signed by only two members, Theodore Kronshage, Jr., chairman, and A. R. McDonald, with William Dineen as secretary, is as follows: "The commission determines and finds from the facts that the unusual economic conditions existing at the present time constitute an emergency such as is contemplated under Sections 195.395 and 196.70 of the statutes and that action under these statutes is fully warranted and reduced rates for telephone service supplied by the utility should be applied during the period beginning July 1, 1932, and ending July 1, 1933.

It is therefore ordered that the Manawa Telephone company be and hereby is ordered, during the period indicated above, to apply charges and net rates, to all classes of service except extensions and switched party lines, 25 cents per month less than the existing schedule. Switched party lines shall be charged $1.25 per quarter.

It is therefore ordered that at the end of the period indicated above, the utility will be permitted to re-instate the schedule or schedules in effect prior to the emergency reduction period and shown in the above opinion unless this order is previously altered or amended on petition of the utility, or its subscribers, or on motion of the commission."

Democrats to Meet

A county-wide Democratic conference has been called at the L. O. O. F. club house in Manawa for Tuesday evening, July 12, at 8 o'clock, by the Waupaca County Democratic committee, for the purpose of nominating candidates for county offices. J. R. Pfiffner of Stevens Point, delegate to the Democratic National convention at Chicago last week, and a member of the resolutions committee of that convention, will be the principal speaker.

It is reported that a number of candidates are already in prospect but none will probably make their announcement before the Democratic conference, looking towards endorsement here. The committee urges all men and women voters to attend the conference.

The annual school meeting of joint school district two, town of Little Wolf and village of Manawa, will be held at the grade school building next Monday evening, July 11, for the election of a clerk and the transaction of all other business that may come before the meeting. Mrs. Tressa Fritz is clerk at the present time.

Rain, a steady downpour, that made a quagmire of every diamond caused the postponement of all baseball games last Sunday. Ogdensburg was scheduled to play at Manawa. Big Falls at Waupaca, and Iola at Scandinavia. As a result, Manawa and Ogdensburg will play a doubleheader at the Bear Lake diamond next Sunday. Iola will play at Waupaca and Scandinavia at Big Falls.

3 Towns Now Organized to Battle Fires

Truck Stationed at Hortonville Will Be Manned by Volunteers

With organization of the rural fire district of Hortonville and the neighboring townships of Ellington, Greenville and Hortonville, officials there believe the question of better fire protection for the residents of the district has been solved.

The new fire fighting apparatus, constructed and equipped along the lines adopted by the Wisconsin conservation commission for fighting forest fires, is an outfit designed to draw its water supply from almost any source. Organized and trained volunteer firemen in each township furnish the man power to properly direct and execute the actual operation of fighting rural fires.

The Otis Farm Finder, the invention of employees of the Otis garage at Hortonville, furnished assurance that the fire fighting apparatus will arrive on the scene in the shortest possible time. It enables the crew, knowing only the name of the farmer calling for help and the town in which the farm lies, to locate the scene of the fire and determine the shortest and best route within 30 seconds after the alarm has been received.

In discussing the proposed district one of the first objections was from residents of outlying districts who feared that the department never would be able to find farms to be built had been reduced to ashes. History shows that this fear was well founded, but the Otis Farm Finder has furnished the solution. The outfit is extremely simple, in fact its very simplicity guarantees its success.

Shows Locations of Farms

A map of the district, showing all the roads and their condition, is mounted under glass. It is surrounded by a metal ring, the surface of which is divided into sections and numbered. Rotating about a pivot centered in Hortonville, almost the exact geographical center of the district, is a long arm, reaching to the outer circle; the arrow on the end of this arm catches in the notches of the circle. The surface of the rotating arm also is divided into sections and these are marked with letters of the alphabet. On the arm is a movable slide with a small arrow pointing in and a larger arrow pointing outward.

On the wall, immediately adjacent to the farm finder, is an alphabetical list of the farmers of the district, numbered more than 1,200. These are grouped by townships and each has its index number. The only information necessary to the man on duty is the name of the farmer and the town in which his farm lies.

For example a call comes from Frank Brown in Hortonville. A glance at the index shows that Frank Brown's farm is indexed at 32-E. The long, rotating arm of the finder is moved around until the arrow points on 32. The slide is moved up or down until the small arrow points to the letter E and then the large arrow of the alphabet is moved. A single glance is all that is necessary to tell the driver which roads to follow in order to avoid detours, dead ends, or stops to make inquiries. The apparatus can start in the shortest possible time and its driver knows the quickest and best route to the destination.

The volunteers organized in each township will familiarize themselves with the water supply on every farm in their territory. Where creeks are available dams will be built and ponds constructed. Roadways to the ponds or other water supply will be marked out. In case of fire, volunteers living in the immediate neighborhood, are sure to reach the scene before the apparatus arrives.

MAN TOWN FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Here are members of the volunteer departments in the rural fire district composed of the towns of Greenville, Hortonville and Ellington. They have been named to man the truck owned jointly with Hortonville village and kept at Hortonville. They also will acquaint themselves with the various farms in their districts and sources of water supply.

tus can arrive from Hortonville. Their first duty will be to open gates and clear the way to the water supply.

Then they will stand ready to guide the apparatus to the proper place so no delays occur. As they also are trained in standard fire fighting methods they will be able to assume charge of the fire fighting and direct the work of the neighbors arriving on the scene.

Milk cans filled with water can be utilized by the apparatus through its booster tank when other water supplies are inadequate. A dozen or two truckloads of water, delivered in this manner in the early stages of a fire, should do much to increase the efficiency of the fire fighters.

Has Chemical Tanks

The fire fighting apparatus, constructed and equipped along the lines of that adopted by the Wisconsin conservation commission for fighting forest fires, has a rotary

Noblewoman of Britain Wins in Suit for Libel

Defendant Paper Apologizes and Pays All Costs of Action

London.—(P)—Lady Louis Mountbatten emerged victor today from a libel action against the Oldham Press, Ltd., publishers of "The People" Sunday newspaper, when the defendants apologized and paid all her costs and expenses.

Lady Mountbatten was said to have refused to accept heavy damages which the paper was willing to pay.

Many prominent society people occupied seats in the courtroom when the case was called but Lady Mountbatten's attorney announced at once that the action had been settled.

She and her husband hurried back to England unexpectedly yesterday from a long vacation in Malta where they entertained former King Alfonso XIII of Spain.

During the brief proceedings this morning the plaintiff's attorney informed the court that although it was unusual he wanted to read into the record the libelous article on which the action was based.

"I'll do that," he said, "so that its full enormity may be known and every fact in this case plainly stated so that the world may know that these foul rumors have been brought out of the region of hints into the light of publicity."

Then he read the following clipping from the newspaper:

"Famous hostess exiled. Society shaken by terrible scandal. 'I am able to reveal today the sequel to a scandal which has shaken society to its very depths. It concerns one of the leading hostesses in the country, a woman highly connected and immensely rich. Her associations with a colored man became so marked that they were the talk of the west end. Then one day the couple were caught in compromising circumstances. The sequel is that the society woman has been given a hint to clear out of England for a couple of years to let the affair blow over, and the hint comes from a quarter which cannot be ignored.'"

The lord chief justice impounded a copy of the publication containing the libel, after pointing out that some libels are crimes.

Lady Louis set with Lady Mountbatten during the proceedings. He is a second cousin of King George.

The attorney stated that inasmuch as Lord Mountbatten had been attached as naval officer with the Mediterranean fleet with headquarters at Malta in August, 1931, it was only natural that his wife and their children should join him there.

and other standard equipment are carried.

The apparatus is housed and cared for by the Hortonville fire department where a man always is on duty to receive incoming alarms. The expense of installation and maintenance is borne jointly by the four member communities being apportioned on the basis of assessed valuation.

The center group is the Hortonville volunteers, Carl Sambs, Merle Dorschner, Gilbert Radichel, Gary Deberstein, Arthur McHugh, Leonard Baehmann, Louis Baehmann, Richard McDermont, Gerhard Rusham, M. F. Abraham, Henry Elmer and Herbert Lathrop.

The lower group shows the Ellington volunteers, Harry Jack, Ed Wiesler, Edwin Puls, Clement Calen, Len Bentle, Edward Tremmel, George Schroth, Carl Wunderlich, Henry Lohrenz, Howard Levezow, Ben Parthe, Louis Steidl, Clarence Heuer, Edward Schwab, Clarence Casey, Ray Casey, Ben Goel, W. # Legalized Beer Would Provide Jobs at Once

Almost 100 men would be given immediate employment in Appleton, Kaukauna and Menasha and "good" beer would be available within two or three weeks should congress decide to legalize the manufacture of that beverage, according to officials of breweries in these three cities.

The George Walter Brewing company in Appleton, according to Nic Dorr, president and general manager, would be turning out pre-prohibition beer within two or three weeks should they receive permission to go ahead. They would immediately employ from 25 to 40 men, spend considerable money for supplies that would be necessary and within a few months the plant would be employing a still larger force of workers, according to Mr. Dorr. While the plant is not in use now, Mr. Dorr said, the machinery and equipment has been kept in condition. Two or three weeks would be necessary, however, before a final product could be turned out.

At Menasha, the Walter Brothers Brewing company would put from 25 to 30 men to work immediately should the manufacture of beer be made legal, according to John Walter, secretary and treasurer and manager of the company. Mr. Walter said the plant there, however, except for one small portion, has not been kept in readiness and that it would probably be about six months before a final product could be produced. He also said the staff of employees would be increased as the manufacturing process got underway. He said this company would spend a considerable amount for grain, bottles, cases, barrels and other supplies and equipment.

The Regenuss Brewing company at Kaukauna would give immediate employment to from 15 to 20 people, as compared to only two on the payroll at the present time. Here, as in Appleton, the plant is in readiness to start manufacturing beer at once, although the finished product would not be available for two or three weeks. At the present time a part of this plant is being used to manufacture soft drinks, but it could be immediately transferred to the manufacture of beer should that beverage be made legal.

on your Strawberry Jam

The cheapest, most delicious strawberries of the year are crowding the local markets. So read below how you can make jam quicker and cheaper than ever this year... and then go to your grocer at once.

BY Mrs. F. M. Bateman
ILLINOIS STATE JELLY CHAMPION

"I just hate to think of women still making jam and jelly the old-fashioned long-boil method. It's so costly. And so terribly tedious!"

"I make all my prize-winning jellies and jams with Certo. And I would never think of doing it any other way."

"In the first place, Certo reduces boiling time for crushed strawberry jam, for instance, to one minute. And, of course, that is how it saves me so much money. For, with so little boiling needed, not one bit of the fruit juice has time to boil away. And as a result I usually get fully 5 more glasses from the same amount of fruit... and save as much as 2 1/2¢ on every glass."

"Of course, this 1 minute of hard boiling also saves me lots of time, too. Indeed it takes me only 11 or 12 minutes from the time I put my fruit and sugar mixture on until the time my finished jam is cooling in the glasses."

"And with Certo you get much better tasting jam or jelly, too. Certainly the 37 prizes the State Fair Judges

NONE OF MY STRAWBERRIES BOIL AWAY IN COSTLY STEAM!

Indeed, Certo gives such amazing results that today nearly half the jelly makers in America are using it. Why not try it yourself? It will save you lots of money!

awarded my jams and jellies in the last two years testify to that!"

Why don't you do as Mrs. Bateman suggests and order a supply of Certo today—with your strawberries and other jelly making supplies? You will be delighted at the money and time it will save you!

And the extra flavor it will give your jams and jellies, too... if you will simply follow carefully the Certo recipes that come in the booklet attached to every Certo bottle. So don't delay. In a few days this marvelous crop of berries may be on the wane.

Visitors to See Experiments in Farming Methods

Expect Crowd From Outagamie-co Will Attend Sturgeon Bay Program

The program has been completed for the annual farmer's field demonstration at the state agricultural department's experiment station at Sturgeon Bay on July 15, according to Gus Sell, county agent. Mr. Sell expects a group of Outagamieco farmers and their families will attend the event. Opening in the morning with a livestock judging demonstration, the visitors will have an opportunity to win prizes in the judging of milch cows and yearling heifers and bulls. In advance of the contest an expert from the state department will give instructions on judging. The afternoon program will open with an address by Professor Noble Clark, assistant director of the station, who will speak on "The Purpose and Use of the Experiment Station." Mrs. W. F. Mortenson, who will have charge of a special program for women, will talk and give a demonstration on the preservation and utilization of home-grown food products. This will be followed by the field trip where the visitors will see experiments in fertilizer trials and the use of manure; quack grass eradication work; spring grain trials; treatment of variety trials; trials with alfalfa and corn. The final event of the program will be a demonstration showing methods of treating bait for grasshoppers. There will also be an opportunity for the farmers to ask questions about the various experiments.

3,500 Men Given Jobs In Forestry Program

Madison —(AP)— The state conservation department said today that more than 3,500 men were employed during the first four months of the operation of the forestry program financed by a $500,000 appropriation for the unemployment relief bill enacted by the legislature. The department said that up to July 2, 4,652 pay checks were issued at an average of $24.25 each and that the average length of time each man worked was 10 days. Most of the work done so far has been in the construction of fire lanes, fire roads and new lookout towers. Up to the present time 206 projects have been set up and 190 have been worked on in 24 counties. Out of the total appropriation $264,539.48 had been allocated by July 2 and $98,300.50 of that had been disbursed, the department said.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By Ahren

Jerry, every muscle rigid, leaped out of bed. The inhuman scream that had waked him was dying out in a ghastly bubbling wail whose overtones echoed and reechoed through the darkened house. For an instant there was utter silence, more horrible than the grisly sound which had preceded it.

He reached his door in the space of a dozen heartbeats. The corridor reverberated with the sound of turning knobs and opening doors. There was a slapping shuffle of bare feet, the noisy stamp of heavy shoes. That night light which usually glowed at the end of the hall had been extinguished, the faint gleam of an approaching flash light gave everything an eerie appearance.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams

SYNOPSIS: Nancy Wentworth finds that Limpy Ashwood, leader of the gang holding her and five men for ransom, on an island, intends to marry her. Lucci, one of the prisoners, plans to escape and take her with him. Jerry Calhoun, Emory Battles and Stevens have been captured trying to arrest Ashwood.

Chapter 22
A DEATH SHRIEK

"LISTEN, girlie," Lucci went on in a gush of words which fell from his lips like a torrent that was too weary to dam, "I seen lots of women in my day, but I never give a thought to marrying one of them. You're different. There's something—there's a lot about you I ain't wise to, but I do know that you're my woman and I'm here to say that I'll bump off every guy who don't believe it. This Limpy's got a good head on him and he has bossed a swell racket, but he ain't no better than the hot end of a cat, see?"

Nancy felt as though her heart were in a steel wire, the screws of which were being untidily turned by unseen devils. She wondered vaguely, if it would not ease the ache and smooth out many of the difficulties here on the island were she to throw herself into the placid, silvery Gulf and sink quietly into its cool, shimmering depths. But her weary soul rejected the thought of suicide impatiently. Weary she was, but too healthy of mind and body.

But Lucci was standing by her, waiting for her answer. She must find a way to refuse him which would not turn him berserk. She must choose words which would prevent murder this night. Although she knew that she, herself, might kill Ashwood were he to carry out her threat, she could not bear the thought of this gangster murdering her forthwith.

"Mr. Lucci," she faltered, at last, "I know that you have paid me a very great honor. But before I answer you, I want you to promise me that you will kill Ashwood."

"Why?" His voice was restrained, but vibrant with jealousy. "Do you love him?"

"Heavens no!" She laughed shortly. "But I am so sure that he will not carry me away that there is no need of bloodshed."

"He bumped off my two torpedoes in Chi. I'd have bumped him off before long, anyway," he reminded her.

"Perhaps. I'm in no mood to argue the ethics of gang warfare. But I do not want him killed. Do you agree?"

"I'll go part of the way with you," he said, after a brief pause. "I'll agree not to smoke him off while we're on this island if he doesn't go after me first or if he doesn't get in my way while I'm trying to lam. Is that an even break?"

"I suppose so," she agreed wearily. "Now as to the rest. I'm going to tell you just what I told Ashwood a few moments ago. I don't love you and I won't marry you. If you take me away, I'll kill myself at the very first opportunity."

She heard his teeth click together. He was fighting hard for self control.

"Yeah," Now lemme tell you somethin'," he said harshly. "What you told Limpy don't interest me none. You could of told him you'd marry him day after tomorrow and all I'd have would be a laugh, see? I'd smoke him off before he could drag his leg half away across the room to where you was standin'."

He pushed his swarthy face close to hers. His eyes were as hard and bright as polished shoe buttons.

"So, I ain't good enough for you eh?" he demanded mockingly. "I suppose maybe my rackets ain't high class enough for you. Well, listen, girlie, you're going to marry me whether you like it or not."

Jerry shuddered a little as he followed the detective to the door. He could hear the death shriek which had echoed through the dark, still hall. Ashwood, who had already entered the room, switched on the lights and stood just inside the threshold, a set expression on his lined face, gazing steadily at the bed. Stevens and Jerry looked over his shoulder. The latter, injured to the sight of death during many months at the front, gasped as he met the impact of the glaring, staring eyes of the murdered man.

The body was sprawled across the bed, its head, arms and shoulders, hanging down, over the side. A great crimson smear on the white sheet led from the pillow to the edge and downward to the floor where, beneath the drooping head, was a glistening scarlet puddle. Williams' throat had been cut from ear to ear.

Stevens stepped into the room, approaching the bed in a wide circle, as he saw the ghastly footprints in the fire matting which covered the floor.

"Poor devil," he muttered. "Throat slashed while he slept. Waked him up. Tried to get off bed. Never had a chance to defend himself."

Ashwood advanced, his bright eyes darting about the orderly room. Only the bed had been disturbed. Williams' clothes still hung over the back of a straight chair. His diamond tie and heavy gold watch lay on the dresser.

"Here, Steve," called the cripple. "Here's the knife that did it."

FWD Golfers Play In Tournament

Clintonville Followers of White Pellet Have Big Weekend

Clintonville—In the three golf tournaments which took place at the Riverside golf course on July 23 and 24 much interest and many entries were in competition.

In the long driving contest on Sunday, some of the players who are known for their ability to hit the ball for long distances failed to win. Lloyd Stichtman won this event with a total yardage of 624 with three balls. Ray Donaldson was second with a total of 546 and Floyd Hurley was third with 497.

There was a strong cross wind blowing which carried many of the balls off the fairway and this disqualified the balls so driven.

The flag contest on Monday was a nice tournament. Each player was given a flag with his name and a number which was the total of 36, par for the course, plus his handicap. R. H. Morris won this event by completing the nine holes and having one drive off the first tee on the second round, his ball coming to rest 180 yards beyond the first tee. Others who ended their allotted strokes on the ninth green and whose flags were so placed were Edgar Voelz, Gale Sheddore, Clarence Barker, Ben Miller, Lloyd Stichtman, H. H. Heuer.

In the 36 hole medal play tournament on Saturday, Gale Sheddore won with the following totals, 104, 101 for each of two 18 hole games. With a handicap of 35 this gave him a net score of 149. R. H. Morris had a total of 190, a handicap of 40 or a net of 150. H. H. Heuer had a total of 167, a handicap of 16 or a net of 151. H. H. Heuer had the best low gross score for 18 and 36 holes in the match.

The ladies tournament last week was called off due to rain. The qualifying rounds for the Graff trophy were played over the weekend. This is match play on a handicap basis. The sixteen entries with the lowest scores qualified for this contest and were followed by H. H. Heuer, Gale Sheddore, C. E. Stuberov, R. H. Morris, Lloyd Stichtman, E. C. Stuberov, George McCauley, Rex Michaelis, S. J. Tillson, G. H. Billings, Edgar Voelz, H. O'Connell, A. G. Bohr, R. E. Miller.

Collegians Win From Shiocton by 12-5 Count

Appleton club of the Fox River Valley League played at Shiocton last evening and came away with a 12 and 5 decision. Dots Grove hurled for the locals. C. O. Baetz, league president worked in right field and the Collegians and gave one hit. He was hit by a third strike go on another hit to the rubber. However, he was not recorded whether he committed an umpire's error.

Manager Leo Murphy has announced the Collegians will play the Pine Woods school team of Mississippi Wednesday evening at Brandt park. The invaders are a Negro team.

Sunday the Collegians meet Shawano here with Al Foss pitching for Appleton. The non-40 and 25 cent admission price will be in effect.

Collegiate Boxing Champ Gives Blood To Save Sweetheart

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Goyle Hill of Tulane, national intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion, has risked his chances for an Olympic medal in an effort to help save the life of his sweetheart.

The boxer gave a pint of blood to Miss Peggy O'Neal, 21, whom he has admitted he hopes to marry, after physicians pronounced her in critical condition from sunstroke suffered on a yachting party.

Hill's boxing coach cancelled workouts yesterday when the boxer showed up with arms bandaged from the transfusion and weakened by the taking of his blood.

Hill leaves Sunday for Los Angeles in quest of an Olympic title.

Friday—Bankers vs. Atlas.

The depression is over for the Pure Milk-Pattens softball team and the sun has started to shine again. All of which is another way of saying that the Milks last night won their first game in National League competition. The Printers were the victims and the score was 11 and 10.

The main reason for the defeat of the Printers appears to be the fact they played the first four innings with six players and finally picked up nine along about the seventh inning.

Seven of the winners' runs were scored in the first three frames when the Printers had nothing in the way of a defense. The Prints didn't do so bad at the plate either, in the early innings, getting a like number of runs.

The Printers got eight hits and erred six times; the Milks got 12 hits and erred three times.

Yankees Beaten In Third Game; Gomez Is Routed

Pittsburgh Streak Is Snapped at Six Straight, Giants Cop

BY GATLE TALBOT

THE events of the next fortnight should tell pretty definitely how the land lies in the American league, whether the Yankees are to continue their headlong flight toward the championship or will be challenged by one or more of their more robust rivals.

With Bill Dickey, their slugging catcher, on the suspended list and Lefty Gomez pitching ragged ball for the first time this year, the Yanks find themselves short of two vital cogs. Too, they appear on the edge of that slump which every team, no matter how great, must expect sometime during the season.

They dropped their third straight to Detroit yesterday in 10 innings, only the second time since the race began they have lost more than two in a row.

Roni Lefty Gomez

The second place Tigers put on a rousing finish to capture their opener with the leaders, 3 to 5. They jumped on Gomez, who appeared in a relief role, for three runs in the ninth to knot the score and then routed the Casullian in the tenth with three more.

Jonah Stone, Tiger outfielder, knocked in two runs in each of the big innings. Gomez, losing his third game against 14 victories, walked four batters in the fatal tenth. The win placed the Tigers within six and one-half games of the top.

The Washington Senators, who put up a hot fight for the top early in the season, fell into the second division when they were beaten twice by Cleveland, 3 to 2 and 4 to 3. Jack Russell and Mel Harder were the rouse for the Indians.

The third place Athletics could get no better than an even break with Chicago, losing the first, 13 to 3, when they were held to six hits by the coast rookie, Pete Duglia, and winning the nightcap, 3 to 3.

Lefty Walters, The St. Louis Browns broke a five-game losing streak by slugging three Boston pitchers for 17 hits and an 8 to 2 decision.

Buc Win Streak Ends

Pittsburgh's winning streak was snapped at six straight and its hold on the National League lead reduced to two and one-half games by the New York Giants, who profited by a pair of errors to win, 4 to 3.

Heine Meine threw away his own game in the eighth when he heaved wildly past third on an attempted force out. Waite Hoyt, pitching relief, held the Pirates helpless the last three innings.

Chicago and Boston remained in a virtual tie for second place. The Cubs scored easily over the Phillies, 7 to 0, as Pat Malone yielded only five hits, and the Braves put a couple of home runs in the right spots to nose out the Cardinals, 5 to 4.

"Red" Hargrave hit one with a runner on in the second inning and the great Art Shires belted another in the eighth with two aboard.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati were routed out.

Diamond Ball League?

AND now the question has been asked—Why not an inter-league ball game in Appleton for all the teams playing the game independently? There now are at least four teams that can play the league game. It has been suggested that the Zueikes, All Stars, Service Bakers and Spiker Bakers get together and form a league or get two more teams and make a six team loop.

Earl Bates, president of the Fraternal League says he'll help organize the thing.

Price Reductions

Add to recent price reductions—the admission price to Appleton baseball games Announcement that a cut to 40 cents for the gents and 25 cents for the ladies was made the other day. The reason is two fold.

One is to evade the federal tax on sports tickets over 40 cents and the other is to give fans the benefit of it.

Southpaw Golfers

The third Wisconsin state southpaw golf tournament for wrong handed golfers will be played at the Lynx golf club, Milwaukee, on July 13. It has been announced.

Medals will be given winners. The tournament will be a 36 hole medal play affair. Ward Eshenhut, Racine, is present state champion.

Entry fees should be sent Harry Robinson, Lynx golf club, North Milwaukee.

Art Bystrom of the Press Gazette at Green Bay pens the following comments on baseball around his home town:

There may be worse jobs than that of an umpire in the Fox River Valley league but we can't think of one. Of all the work a man can pick out, we can't figure why anyone cares for an arbitrator's job, yet there seems to be many of them willing and anxious to work at it.

The case of Wenzlaff, the big, husky strike-caller who has worked most of the Green Bay games, is a good example. He tries to do his job right and gets a fair percentage of his decisions correct, but fans and players alike are "on" him. His ears must be ringing yet from the howls of fans and players in the Green Bay-Kimberly game.

Any man who can stand up against the verbal barrage that Wenzlaff takes when he works hereabouts, has our sympathy. Even if we don't agree with some of his decisions, we can't help but admire him for coming back for more, apparently without noticing it.

When Joe Petcka fanned Charlie Skell, Kimberly's first sacker, in the tenth inning of Sunday's game, he ran his string of strike-outs to 66 for the season in Valley competition. Joe has fanned all the way from the first to the last game.

The record for him is an average of 7.3 per game, far better than that of any other hurler in the league, for nine games this year. Joe's control also is the best in the league as he has allowed only eight walks in nine games, an average of less than one a game. Three walks were issued Sunday, which is the most he has permitted at any time this season. Never before has more than one man taken a free trip to the bag in one game.

The southpaw ace has given 61 hits, an average of 6.7 per game. He has allowed 23 runs, for an average of 2.7 a game.

Yanks Hold First Places at Ottawa

Walter Hagen Starts Late But Takes Second Honors With a 70

Ottawa, Ont.—(AP)—Americans held the first nine places in the Canadian open golf championship today as the field of 105 entered the second round. Canadian hopes of a home-bred triumph in the classic for the first time since 1914 were virtually non-existent.

A stroke ahead of all rivals was "Lighthouse Harry" Cooper of Chicago whose first round 69 knocked four strokes off par for the 6,770 yard layout of the Ottawa Hunt and Golf club and equaled the course record set up in 1920 by the club champion, Jimmy McLaughlin.

Just behind the Chicagoan with 70s were two Detroit stars, Walter Hagen, defending champion, and George Von Elm, well known business man golfer.

For a time it appeared that Hagen might not appear at all in defense of his crown but he finally turned up at the course at 3.30 o'clock, four and a half hours late, and airily announced he had been delayed by motor trouble. Then Sir Walter proceeded to give the tough layout a fine beating, starting with an eagle three at the first hole where he sank a chip shot from off the green.

Ted for 71 in place at 72 were four more Americans—Olin Dutra of Brentwood, Cal., Tom Kerrigan, Mount Vernon, N. Y., Al Watrous, Birmingham, Michigan, and Leo Diegel, Agia Caliente pro-while Willy Cox of Brooklyn and MacDonald Smith of Great Neck, Long Island, were another stroke to the sad.

MR. HILBERT WELLS, manager of the Power company softball team put in one of the most hectic days of his young life yesterday afternoon when his hopefuls played the Chair-Interlake team in a regular American league game.

The Powers won the contest 9 and 8 but they gave Mr. Wells a terrible headache in the sixth inning when they permitted the Chairs to score seven runs and tie the score at 8 all. The Powers were leading 8 and 1 before the rally started. Four infield errors, two walks and six hits resulted in the runs.

And then as if to show Mr. Wells they were only fooling, the Powers went out and scored one run in the eighth and that proved the winning margin. The Chairs threatened in the ninth with a couple men on the sacks, the side being retired when Burmeister tried to score on a short fly and was nailed at the plate.

Tonight will see the big game of the week with the Fox River battling Appleton Machines. Monday night the Outagamie Milk will play the Chair Interlake team.

New York—(P)—The stock market gained but monetary comfort from the Franco-German agreement at Lausanne today. An opening bulge was quickly deflated, and while net losses were largely trivial, a handful of stocks closed 1 to 3 points lower.

The closing tone was heavy, and transfers approximately 700,000 shares.

Stock traders, imbued with deep pessimism over the low state of corporate earnings, evidently felt that a settlement of the reparations question, vitally important as it may be over a period of time, could do little toward changing the immediate situation.

The list pushed up 1 to 2 points in the early dealings, but quickly relapsed under a few soft spots. However, the list failed to go under yesterday's close, and softened again by early afternoon. American Telephone was a soft spot, declining more than 2 points to a new low under 72, before recovering. First National Stores, Safeway Stores, and Coca Cola dropped 2 to 3, and Detroit Edison 6.

The market has fluctuated in an extremely narrow range during the past three weeks, as measured by the averages, and some quarters. The market has been determined to prevent the list from breaking through into new low ground in a way which would precipitate another wave of selling of bond loan collateral. With a period of extremely slim earnings at hand, however, and further paring of dividends confidently expected, buyers have remained extremely cautious, despite such hopeful signs as the reparations agreement, a better tone in commodities, and completion of the gold transfer. Some quarters, as a matter of fact, stubbornly remain extremely bearish.

International bankers said the reparations agreement should bring a check to the forced export of German goods, removing a source of pressure against prices, and should protect the large private credits of Germany, chiefly held by New York and London. The market received little stimulus from domestic news. The new chain store, the Louisiana, was mentioned as possibly bringing some selling into the merchandising issues, and Telephone was affected by private estimates of second quarter earnings.

General Motors June sales report, showing that consumers in the United States bought 56,987 cars, against 63,900 in May, was about as expected.

Wall Street Briefs

New York—(P)—Two of the three groups into which the class 1 railroads are divided operated at a loss in May, according to the bureau of railway economics. The western and southern groups had operating deficits while net operating income of the eastern lines dropped 47 per cent to $18,003,000. This is believed to be the first time on record for two groups to report losses in any one month.

The short position in all securities on the New York curb exchange totaled 31,668 shares on June 30 compared with 33,628 shares on June 15, the exchange announced today. This is a low record since the exchange began to issue figures on the short interest.

The world's visible supply of coffee, exclusive of inventory, is estimated to be 300,000 bags during June according to the New York coffee and sugar exchange. World's visible supply on July 1 was 6,646,689 bags.

Gun Squad to Take Part in League Shoot

Kaukauna Trapshooters Journey to Fond du Lac Sunday for Contest

Kaukauna—Members of the Kaukauna Gun club will participate in a clay pigeon shoot in Northeastern Wisconsin Trapshooting league competition at the Fond du Lac traps next Sunday, it was announced yesterday by Joseph J. Jansen, who is in charge of local arrangements. It is expected a squad of five members of the Kaukauna organization will take part.

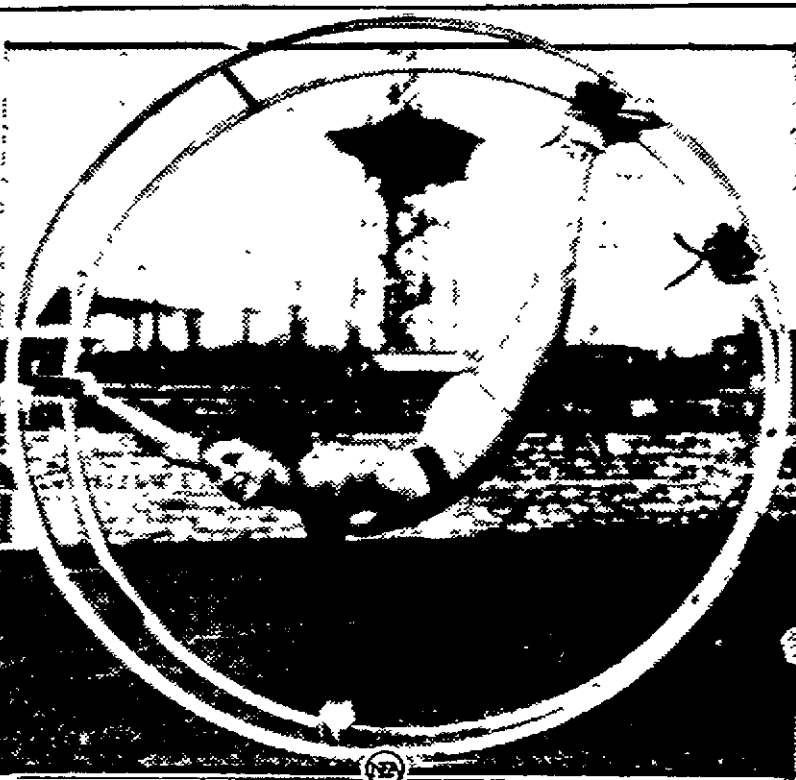

Other squads will be present from Oshkosh, Green Bay, Waupaca, Fond du Lac and Oconto. Next Sunday's shoot is probably one of the last in league competition. One was scheduled for Rhinelander on the following Sunday, but it has been erased from the league calendar.

A post-season shoot is scheduled, however, for Aug. 14 at Weyauwega, according to Mr. Jansen. A large number of trapshooters are expected to participate in that event.

Officers of the Northeastern Wisconsin league are: Charles Larson, Waupaca, president; D. C. Hayward, Weyauwega, vice president; and John Look, Weyauwega, secretary and treasurer. Larson and Hayward are members of the Waupaca organization.

An inter-club shoot which was to have taken place on the Kaukauna traps Thursday afternoon was postponed due to inclement weather, according to Mr. Jansen. There may be a practice shoot some time next week.

SHE GOES AROUND IN THE BEST CIRCLES

An all-round athlete is this little fraulein of Berlin—and head over heels in the fad of aero-wheeling, newly-introduced sport in Germany. Anchor your feet, grab the handles, shift your weight to set the wheel in motion, and you're going places and seeing things from a brand new perspective. And what a chance to give the boys a run-around!

Board of Review in Session at Kaukauna

All complaints must be in before adjournment, probably next Thursday or Friday.

Members of the board are Mayor B. W. Fargo, Louis Wolf, city clerk, Miss Mary Hooyman, city treasurer, and Ben Bell and Ethan Brewster, aldermen.

Start Building Cinder Path on Athletic Field

Kaukauna—Workmen have started building the cinder running path on the border of the new high school athletic field. Most of the work on the field, including the filling of low spots, has been completed. It is expected the large playing field will be ready for use when the high school opens for its annual term in September.

Receive Report Of Chamber Meet

Outline Discussions at National Meeting in San Francisco

Recent criticisms of national shipping policies adopted by congress in the Jones-White Merchant Marine Act, 1926, were sharply challenged at the twentieth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at San Francisco, according to reports of the meeting received here by officials of the Appleton chamber.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, chairman of the meeting, expressed the view that government aid to private American ship owners, to enable them to maintain American ships on overseas trade routes in the face of foreign competition is amply justified by the benefits to American commerce, the report says.

Other issues discussed by the national organization also were summarized in the report. There was extended discussion of the inter-coastal shipping problems, and resolutions were adopted advocating continued support of the Merchant Marine. Ratification by the senate of the international convention for safety of life at sea was also endorsed. The mule deer is the largest found in the United States.

The city population of the United States was greater than the rural population by about 5.3 per cent in 1920, but by 1930 the excess had jumped to 28.3 per cent.
